FINAL VICTIM. A body, believed to be that of the final victim of a boating accident at Alton on April 6, is carried from the bank of the Mississippi River Wednesday afternoon. The body was found floating about 25 yards south of where the body of another victim of the accident was found on April 10. Wilson and David Schrader of Venice found the unidentified body while fishing about 125 yards north of the Merchants Bridge. Carrying the body are Madison Police Chief Don Bridick, left center foreground, followed by Madison Police Sgt. William Fand. At right is Ron Martin, followed by Venice Police Sgt. Joseph Meehan and Madison County Deputy Coroner William Sternberg.

Madison may redistrict

By MICK STRANGE

Ward redistricting is expected to be a problem the Madison City Council must face and will, in all probability, mean the loss of two aldermen and the forming of four, rather than five, city wards.

At the Madison City Council meeting Tuesday night, City Clerk John Bellico read a letter from County Clerk Evelyn M. Bowles which stated, "...it is probably necessary for you to redistrict your wards due to the 1980 census."

Mayor Mike Sasyk appointed the senior alderman of the city to meet with City Attorney Casper S. Nighoshian, research the law and present a suggested redistricting plan, if necessary, to the council.

Aldermen serving on the committee will be Ward One Alderman Don Reeves, chairman, William Gushoff of Ward Two, Thomas Gordon of Ward Three, Christ Costoff from Ward Four and Don Garrett of the Fifth Ward.

According to the Illinois Municipal Code, cities with more than 9,000 population, but not exceeding 15,000, may have only eight aldermen.

Madison, according to the 1980 census, has an official population of 5,915 with five wards and 10 aldermen.

According to a spokesman for the Madison County Clerk's office, it is up to the city how the wards are designated; however, they must be as close as possible to equal in population.

The redistricting must be accomplished at least 60 days before the candidate filing date for the next election, which will be in April 1983.

This means the redistricting must be accomplished by this December.

Asked after the meeting if he has any idea how the redistricting may be done or which two aldermen may feel their seats because of redistricting, Mayor Sasyk said, "I really can't say until the legal department studies it, and the senior alderman reviews the law. All I can say now is that we will adhere to the state statutes."

The council approved the purchase of a house at 1510 Fourth St., Madison, from Raymond Thornton for $17,900. The house will be purchased with federal grant funds obtained in connection with the David Connole Alpine Village Shopping Center.

The structure, directly behind the Clark service station, will be torn down to allow exit onto Fourth Street from the center.

Bills approved in regard to the shopping center were in the amount of $52,596 payable to the Windfield Construction Co. — $15,792 being paid from Industrial Revenue Bond Funds and $33,802 from Community Development grant funds.

The council approved the payment of $1,876 for Madison's share of an update study on secondary treatment facilities at the Lansdowne Sewage Treatment Plant.

It is felt that updating that plant for (Continued on Page 11)

Propose wage freezes in GC budget for 1982-83

Despite Granite City's new sales and telephone taxes, it is becoming apparent that Granite City employees should not expect wage increases this year.

The first four city department heads to present their tentative budgets to the city's finance review committee

Tuesday did so apparently with no margin for wage increases. Mac Warfield, street superintendent, said his tentative $1,150,854 budget does not include wage hikes and he does not predict a final form will include any raises.

"I don't think anybody in the city is expecting a raise," said Robert Bell, representative of the Granite City Firefighters Local 233, International Association of Firefighters, AFL-CIO. Fire Chief Don Parente presented both the fire department and ambulance service budgets under the restrictions set by City Comptroller Joseph Milovic. Milovic based a tentative $8.9 million city budget on the present number of city employees at their current pay rates.

Given a $1,385,000 tentative budget figure for the fire department, Parente shaved $2,000 from budget guidelines with the assumption there will be a wage freeze.

During the current budget year which ends Friday, the fire department spent $1,294,764.

One variable in the tentative budget is a $10,000 "callout time" request in the event of a major fire whose cause could possibly form a reserve at the end of the budget year.

Yet to be determined is decision by the negotiating committee on annual revenues from a two percent foreign insurance fund. According to Bell, state law requires two percent of the fire insurance premiums paid by local businesses with out-of-state home offices to be used to help support local fire departments.

In about 1973, use of the rebate funds was taken from the fire department. The rebate revenues vary each year, averaging approximately $20,000 to $30,000. Some of the funds now go to the firemen's pension fund.

Bell said that firefighters' recently spent $3,881 of their union funds to reupholster chairs, pointing out the need for such rebate funds.

"Any other time, I think I (would) want to go along with you. But, boy, this is a heck of a time," Mayor Paul Schuler said of the request. Schuler said that if the funds were given to the fire department, they would have to be taken from the general fund.

"This year, with the city saying no pay raises, we thought one concession wouldn't hurt," said Bell. He proposed the returning of the funds to the fire department at Tuesday's council meeting.

The city comptroller said that if the funds are locked into the fire department, they could possibly be channeled towards uniform allowances, training expenses and equipment purchases, among other options.

Bell said foreign insurance funds in the past paid for University of Illinois seminars trips featuring the latest in firefighting techniques, lifesaving methods and defensive driving lessons.

The union representative said no U.I. training trips have been made in the last five years, due to the fund's withdrawal and the city's financial condition.

Chief Parente also presented a tentative "under budget" ambulance department appropriation of $465,500, down $2,500 from the city comptroller's guidelines.

Two major issues in the ambulance budget are the acceptance by local municipalities of the ambulance rate hikes (discussed in a separate story today) and the expense of the paramedic program, now in negotiations.

Other questions being thrashed out in negotiations include determining the seniority date for ambulance employees that started as Manpower (a federally-funded work program) employees, and setting the amount of holiday pay which should be allowed.

A paramedic program could increase both salary and insurance expenses for the department. The program, due to (Continued on Page 11)

Higher GC ambulance fees start Saturday

By GEORGEANN MCGEE

Beginning Saturday, Granite City residents will be charged $100 per call for ambulance runs, according to changes approved Tuesday in the city's ambulance service contract.

The new fee represents a $30 increase for city residents. Out-of-town Granite City ambulance users can expect to pay an additional $35 for a $125 per call and receive a $2-per-mile charge.

Granite City residents who need ambulance service while outside the city limits will be charged the lower city fee. If they fail to pay, however, those payments will become the responsibility of the municipalities where the calls originated.

All accidents occurring within the Granite City limits will, in turn, become the responsibility of city, regardless of the address of the ambulance caller. Those out-of-towners needing ambulance assistance within the Granite City limits will still be charged the higher $125-per-call fee.

Those requesting non-emergency ambulance service while a patient at St. Elizabeth Medical Center will, beginning Saturday, have to pay in advance before being transported by the Granite City Ambulance Service.

User municipalities also will be charged an annual assessment fee to help defray expenses incurred by Granite City to maintain a 24-hour-a-day service, since their residents do not pay taxes to help support the service.

Comptroller Joseph Milovic said the success of the upcoming ambulance budget hinges on the acceptance of the amendment by local municipalities.

Charges for municipalities will be: Madison, $6,916; Venice, $10,531; Nameoki, $2,786; Venice Township,

Imports rise, National Steel loss $40 million

By BILL WINTER

of the Press-Record

National Steel Corp., yesterday reported a $40.2 million loss, $2.15 per share, for the first 1982 quarter.

The firm owns Granite City Steel, where layoffs almost 600 workers but the plant continues to operate on a reasonably steady basis, "fine tuning" the number of active and idle workers each week to conform to its order backlog and production schedule.

The loss announced in Pittsburgh compares to earnings of $18.7 million or 83 cents a share in January-March 1981.

Steel shipments by National in the first quarter declined 28 percent to 1,500,000 tons, versus 1,900,000 tons.

Revenues of National Steel declined 22 percent to $851 million versus $1.1 billion in last year's first quarter.

U.S. Steel Corp. a day earlier reported a 71 percent drop in its first-quarter earnings, from $270 million to $70 million, and Bethlehem Steel said it lost $46 million, in contrast with year-earlier first-quarter earnings of $25 million.

National Steel aluminum and financial services businesses were profitable in the quarter just ended. The steel group had a substantial loss, and a small loss was reported by the fabricated products group.

The severe economic recession and record high tonnage of imported steel in the quarter combined to reduce demand and prices for steel to abnormally low levels, officials said.

National's steel plants operated only slightly above 50 percent of capacity and shipments were the lowest for a quarter in over 20 years.

"These unprecedented conditions prevented the corporation from realizing the earnings potential that exists in its leaner and more efficient (Continued on Page 11)

GC woman to head state BPW group

By VALERIE EVENDEN

Annellen P. Smith, 3810 Yale Drive, is to be installed as president of the 8,500-member Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs this weekend at the 61st annual state convention.

The three-day conference starts at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Sheraton Hotel, 910 N. Seventh St., St. Louis. About 800 delegates, representing 163 BPW clubs in Illinois, plus numerous guests are expected to attend.

Among those participating in the weekend activities will be 30 official and alternate delegates from the Granite City BPW Club, together with members of the new state president's family, her personal friends and co-workers.

Miss Smith, a former 30-year employee of the U.S. Department of the Army, embarked on a totally new career in the advertising-marketing field upon her retirement from federal service in 1975.

She is the first member of the Granite City BPW Club to attain the office of state president in the club's 60-year history.

The local business women's group was organized in 1921 and chartered in April, 1922, three years after the National Federation of Business and Professional Women was founded in St. Louis.

Miss Smith is the current Illinois BPW Federation president elect and has served at the state level as first and second vice-president, chairman of the Program Planning, By Laws and Membership (two years) committees and convention co-chairman.

Under her leadership, the Illinois Federation received the Winged Victory Award at the 1979 national convention, signifying that Illinois had the greatest percentage of increase in membership of all state federations. The award was a first for Illinois.

Her entire career with the Department of the Army was spent in the field of logistics and financial management as a systems analyst.

She was one of the first women to attend the Army Logistics Management School at Fort Lee, Va., and served as a member of several Department of the Army Study Groups in the area of systems development and improvement.

Miss Smith began her federal government service at the Granite City Army Installation. She also worked in Washington, D.C., Detroit, Mich., and St. Louis.

During her civil service career, she received many Outstanding and Superior Performer awards and Letters of Commendation.

Miss Smith was nominee for Federal Woman of the Year in 1979, nominee for Federal Woman of Achievement in 1975

Honor Society gives gym Warrior boost

Granite City High School South's National Honor Society has given a new look to the gymnasium building as part of its spring projects. As a service to South, nine society members painted a red, black and white

"Warrior Country" on a wall. The logo resembles the Warrior tee shirt design worn by the high school wrestlers. Two baskets of food were delivered during the Easter season to families in Granite City as another service project.

Both the logo painting project and the food basket deliveries were the idea of member Mary Brandt. The society held a formal initiation ceremony for 30 new members this month. The pledge ceremony was attended by families, friends, teachers and administrators. Refreshments were served by senior Honor Society members.

Twin Pluto? Pluto's moon, Charon, is so close to the planet and so similar in size that some astronomers consider them a double planet.

Chrysler's annual meeting will be in area

Chrysler Corporation is inviting its more than 200,000 shareholders to this area. The company's annual meeting will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday, June 3, at the Chase Park Plaza Hotel in St. Louis, Mo.

The meeting will be held to elect a board of 10 directors, two of whom are to be elected by holders of the company's preferred stock; appoint independent public accountants; consider a proposal to amend and readopt the company's stock option plan, increasing the total number of shares available for options and granting options at fair market value; consider a shareholder proposal and transact any other business that may properly come before the stockholders.

Those nominated for election to the board by common shareholders include Auto Workers President Douglas A. Fraser, and Chrysler Chairman Lee A. Iacocca. Nominated for election to the board by preferred shareholders are Joseph A. Califano Jr. and Robert C. Wilson.

The shareholder proposal would limit contributions to charitable, educational and similar organizations. This was previously presented at the 1979, 1980 and 1981 annual meetings and was rejected by the shareholders each time.

The meeting in St. Louis will provide new groups of shareholders an opportunity to attend the annual meeting and meet with the company's top management, Iacocca commented.

A tour of the St. Louis assembly plant, where Dodge 400 and Chrysler LeBaron models are produced, will follow the meeting.

DYNETTE E. SHRADER has earned three scholarships: National Merit Scholarship, President's Achievement Scholarship and the Maude Wright Scholarship. She is voluntarily relinquishing the Wright scholarship to another student. She plans to attend Ouachita Baptist University, Arkadelphia, Ark. A GCHS South graduating senior, Dynette is the daughter of James and Ruby Shrader, 2442 State St. She is a member of the Southern Express Swing Choir at South, and currently is the female lead in the spring musical "Shenandoah," plus being active in Grace Baptist Church.

STUDENT ART SHOW
The annual undergraduate art show at SIUE will continue through tomorrow in the University Center art gallery. The exhibition is a collection of works judged to be the best of those completed in the last year by students. The gallery, on the second floor, is open from 10:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

Housing Authority trims budget, hopes for approval

By PAIGE ST. JOHN
After operating for four months without an approved budget, the Madison County Housing Authority thinks it might receive its 1982 budget from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development by the end of this month.

The Authority approved and sent in an amended '82 budget to HUD last week, after cutting $140,000.

Authority Executive Director Janet Harolan said she is now waiting to learn from HUD if it will accept the corrected budget.

The Authority turned in its first version of the budget at the end of September last year, she said, but little was done with it by HUD as the department waited to see what cuts would be made at the federal level.

As a result of the delay, the Authority has had to tighten its belt, cash in some of its investments and postpone equipment repairs and purchases.

It has been living, basically, off the capital investments and what rent money it collects.

Now that the extent of the cuts is known by HUD, she said, the Housing Authority has decided to trim its own budget rather than leave the job up to HUD officials.

The budget the Authority sent in last week requests a total amount of $1,248,410 from HUD, $141,250 less than what it asked for in its September budget.

Most of the cuts were made in the areas of maintenance, supplies, maintenance of equipment and travel expenses.

The Authority asked for 100 percent subsidizing of rents, but the director said she has been told HUD will provide only about 75 percent of what it subsidized for rent last year. 1981's rent subsidy level was 85 percent of what is considered full funding.

That means the Authority will be given only about $275,000. It received about $425,000 in rent subsidy last year.

The one thing the Authority hopes to save from the budgetary axe is an improved employee pension plan.

Currently, employees and the Authority each contribute 5 1/2 percent of salaries to the pension.

Under the new plan, the Authority would contribute 7 1/2 percent and the employees would forego a 5 1/2 percent pay raise, with that saved money going into the fund.

As a result, Authority employees would not be taxed directly on their 5 1/2 percent share of the pension money.

Slight rise in sewer district bills sought

By JIM SCHULTER
Residents in the Madison County Special Service Area No. 1 sanitary sewer district may be billed $8,000 more in 1983 if the county follows County Auditor Arthur "Pete" Fields' plan for reducing his department's budget.

Fields' proposal was one of two suggestions he presented to the County Board's finance committee to cut his department's $130,000 budget by 12 percent or $15,000.

Letter from County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer instructed all county departments to suggest ways to cut their expenses by 12 percent in 1983. Fields had earlier told the board that the county will have to reduce expenses by $1.5 million to avoid operating at a deficit.

Fields said his department currently handles the billing for the sewer district, which serves Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships, and costs $100,000.

The auditor said the department is reimbursed approximately $94,000 from the billing, and that the county's general fund makes up the rest.

Fields' proposal that the special service area be charged for the additional cost of billing, Fields said, "and since it's supported by user fees, it wouldn't affect the tax rate."

Although this proposal would not decrease expenses, Fields said his proposal would increase the beleaguered general fund by $15,000. The county auditor is funded by the general fund.

Fields said his department is sending out 4,600 bills to the service area each month. Under the second part of Fields' plan to reduce his budget, any assistance his department gives to the county's outside auditing firm would be charged to the special tax fund supporting the outside auditor.

Fields said it is costing his department $13,000 this year to assist the auditing firm, Price Waterhouse of St. Louis.

He also said the $13,000 could be charged to the special tax fund without increasing the tax rate of .17 cent per $100 assessed valuation.

"Given the normal increase in assessed valuation, no rate increase would be needed," Fields said, "the increase in the tax would be minuscule."

SUNSET HILL ARREST

John W. Douglas, 46, of 2116 Ohio St., has been charged with the burglary of the Sunset Hill Cemetery garage in Edwardsville on Sunday, April 18. His bond was set at $15,000 cash and he was held in the Madison County Jail. A spokesman for the Madison County Sheriff's Department said the investigation is still underway and there may be more arrests made. The cemetery garage was forcibly entered and several thousand dollars worth of tools were taken.

Construction of Oncology unit begins

Construction of St. Elizabeth Medical Center's new Oncology Unit will begin Wednesday, May 5. A total of $150,000 has been donated by the SEMC Auxiliary to remodel an area on the fifth floor of the Doctor's Wing designated for the unit.

According to Steve Hunter, vice president of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, the need for such a unit was indicated by the results of a recent survey of area health care needs. The survey was conducted by a committee led by St. Elizabeth Medical Center Board of Directors Member Leo

Konzen, Planning Committee chairman. "With the advancements in the treatment of cancer," Hunter says, "it is more efficient to provide care in a specialized setting, instead of attempting to deliver care to patients located throughout the medical center."

Dr. William Popovic, SEMC oncologist, is enthusiastic about the new unit. "This unit will make it possible for us to provide excellent patient care because we will be able to concentrate the efforts of specially-trained nurses and other health care professionals." "We're all looking forward to the opening of the Oncology Unit," he adds. It is expected that remodeling will take approximately three months. When complete, the unit will feature an environment more like that of a home than a hospital, its design, says Hunter, will allow for more family interaction.

In addition to in-patient cancer treatment, the Oncology Unit will include facilities for out-patient services such as chemotherapy and blood transfusions. Two beds on the unit will be provided for hospice patients, as well.

Additional GC Council actions—at a glance

Other Granite City Council and committee action and discussions held Tuesday, in addition to the new ambulance contract and tentative budget talks discussed elsewhere in today's issue, were:

Mayor Paul Schuler presented a certificate of appreciation to Jeffrey Bessley, 14, created with saving the life of the child he was babysitting. "These kinds of things should not go unrecognized," said the mayor.

Gregory Thomas, chairman of the Edwardsville Marijuana Education Committee, displayed a water pipe and roach clip as examples of the types of drug paraphernalia an ordinance he is promoting would prohibit.

City Attorney John Papa was requested to study the feasibility of setting limits on the hours of operation and proximity to school grounds of coin-operated video games.

"Looks like we'll have to do some work over between with sick leave," Alderman Stephen Salich said, after reading a report written by Street Superintendent Mac Warfield. Although some employees have suffered serious long-term illnesses, Warfield still counted the then 30-member street staff within the last year as excessive.

A Schnucks Market representative is expected to soon appear before the council to argue his case for the sale of alcohol beverages in the market here. Aldermen voted 8-5 to allow the speaker to present his views after voting on his written request.

City Engineer Monroe Brewer and City Inspector Emerald Daves both told the finance review committee the city needs an additional inspector to assist with the new city licensing ordinance, residential sewer tap-ons and reinforced the committee his combined air pollution, inspection and engineering department still is without clerical help. "I said off when air pollution fundings was uncertain."

Council members held a closed caucus Tuesday to discuss a proposed agreement between the city and wastewater treatment plant workers. Layoffs and increased sewage rate hikes have previously been discussed individually and in combination to make the plant self sufficient under the plan's bond indebtedness. The caucus ended Tuesday after the council reached its 11 p.m. curfew.

Rev. Arentsen sentenced to jail; 1 year probation

The Rev. Edwin F. Arentsen, 65, of Addicks, Ill., was sentenced Tuesday in Edwardsville to serve 10 days in jail and was placed on probation for one year. The Catholic priest was arrested on the parking lot of the Hope Clinic for Women, 1602 Twenty-first St., on Feb. 26.

Charged with criminal trespass to property, the staunch anti-abortionist has been ordered by Associate Judge Thomas Hildebrand not to go within two blocks of the clinic during the probation period or face an additional 20 days in jail.

The jury deliberated for less than 15 minutes before finding the priest guilty. Judge Hildebrand noted two previous convictions for trespassing outside the clinic when the sentence was handed down. Rev. Arentsen's first arrest outside the clinic was on Jan. 19, 1978, while picketing with 30 other anti-abortionists. After serving a

Deadline on benefits to students

Children who receive Social Security student benefits must be enrolled full time in a post-secondary course of instruction prior to May 1 in order to continue receiving their benefits.

"Full time" means all time as defined by the school the student attends. But, for students in trade, technical, vocational, business or other nonacademic colleges, attendance must be for at least 20 clock-hours of instruction per week in a course of study intended to last 13 weeks or more.

Students on May 3 will receive their last checks before the summer vacation. Checks due in June, July, August and Sept. 3 are not paid to student beneficiaries, except high school students under age 19.

For a high school student receives a check June 3, it should be returned," a spokesman said. "For other information, Quad-Cityans may call the East St. Louis district office at 274-4100 or toll-free Enterprise 1-655."

News notes

The GCHS North sophomore class team placed third in late-April mathematics field day competition held at Carlinville. The first-place team, among all large-school sophomores, was Robert Seivers of GCHS North.

The Council for Exceptional Children will hold its spring banquet Monday, May 3, at 6:30 p.m. at the Ramada Inn, Alton, commencing at 11 a.m. at the National Education Week May 2-8. Dr. Morris Lamb, associate professor in the SIUC College of Education, will speak on "Motivation."

Madison County animal control wardens are issuing citations to chronic abusers of the county's law requiring that dogs be kept on leashes.

Social Security recipients are to receive a 7.4 percent cost-of-living increase in July.

Post Corp. earned $185,000 or 6 cents per share in the first quarter, compared with $192,000 or eight cents per share a year ago. Net revenues rose from $17,419,000 a year ago to $18,434,000 this year. The commercial printing division had higher profit, while the newspaper and broadcast divisions were down due to general economic conditions. Lower net interest costs contributed to the corporation's improved performance.

Mrs. Donna Lowry, executive director of the River Bluffs Girl Scouts Council, has defended the decision to locate the council's new building in the Glenview area of Glen Carbon, saying it will provide more room for conferences, training, audiovisual material and resale of scout items. It will be constructed by the River Bluffs Board of Representatives. The 28-member council board represents Madison, St. Clair, Monroe, Calhoun and Jersey counties, the southern half of Macoupin County and Trenton, Red Bud and New Baden.

The Illinois Transportation Department will open bids tomorrow for a half-mile of resurfacing proposed for Illinois Route 203 south of the Illinois Terminal tracks to Fourth Street in Madison.

City stickers deadline near

Granite City residents have until midnight Friday to place car (wheel) stickers on their vehicles before the city's legal deadline, according to a spokesman for City Clerk George Stevens.

The price of stickers double after May 15. Lt. Col. George Pellor said city residents can be ticketed for not displaying the new stickers after the deadline. He said, however, the police department customarily makes an announcement before conducting a sticker check.

Stickers for cars only will be purchased at the First Granite City National Bank, 2010 Street and Edison Avenue, and Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, 1909 Edison Ave.

The First National Bank also is offering stickers for sale at its Bellemore Village facility.

Subscription TV locally this summer

For the first time ever, subscription television will become available in the St. Louis metropolitan market this summer, offering top movies and other quality entertainment programming for viewers within a 70-mile radius.

The new service, called "Preview," will feature more than 50 different movies each month, unedited and uninterrupted, as well as concerts, sports and other entertainment specials, according to Ernest F. Martin Jr., Ph.D., vice president and general manager.

Preview will be aired over KBNL-TV (Channel 30) beginning at 7 nightly and continuing until conclusion — generally 2 to 3 a.m. The service will be provided by Miami Valley Broadcasting Corp., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Cox Communications, Inc., of Atlanta.

Cox, which purchased KBNL in January of this year, has 62 cable systems, 12 radio stations and six television stations in operation across the country.

The company is also involved in several joint programming ventures, including Operation Prime Time, "Entertainment Tonight and Sports."

Martin said Preview will utilize a high-technology system, manufactured by Zenith, which will allow premium programming to be delivered by Channel 30's broadcast signal. The signal will be encoded, or scrambled, by computer so that a decoder must be installed in the subscriber's home to permit reception.

Each day from sign-on until 7 p.m., KBNL will over the same free programming it has in the past, including syndicated shows, movies, sports and children's programs.

During the evening hours, only those TV sets with decoders will be able to receive Preview's lineup of movies and entertainment specials.

Monthly fees and the start-up date will be announced in the near future.

Preview will become the first subscription television service available in the St. Louis area, and one of 26 nationwide.

The operation will be based at a new administrative building now under construction at 11638 Lackland Road in west St. Louis County. Broadcast and other technical facilities will be located there and at Channel 30.

Last day for city stickers

Venice residents have until 4 p.m. tomorrow to purchase city vehicle licenses (city stickers) for their cars and trucks at the current price of $3 each.

The stickers are available at the comptroller's office at the Venice City Hall through 4 p.m. today and from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. on Friday.

Prices for the vehicle stickers will increase on Monday, May 3, to $5. May 3 will also be the date police will begin to make arrests of those residents not having a 1982 vehicle sticker properly displayed. Failure to have the required sticker will result in a $50 fine.

The same fee and fine apply to motorcycles, pickup trucks, recreational vehicles and automobiles in the city.

TRESPASSING CHARGE

Fire cadets in Madison

The Madison Fire Department currently is accepting applications for fire cadets, it was announced Tuesday night at the Madison City Council meeting.
Fire Department Captain Mike Macek asked the aldermen to submit names of applicants to him on or before the next council meeting.
Required age of applicants is 18 to 35 years and, due to insurance coverage, applicants must be residents of Madison.
Within six months of acceptance, the fire cadets must take and pass the test for Emergency Medical Technicians (EMTs), which is a requirement prior to becoming a member of the Madison Volunteer Fire Department.
Persons interested may discuss the details by contacting Captain Macek at 877-4854.
The ambulance report for March 30 through April 25 showed a total of 15 calls, five night shift calls and 10 day shift calls. There were 12 Madison residents transported to the medical center and two non-residents transported, plus one coroner call.
Total charges were $1,148 and the total payroll was $815.
It was noted that collections of bills have been slow but the cost to the city is still far less than the charges of an outside ambulance service, such as Granite City's.

Special recognition of graduating senior members of the band department who have served the school and community for four years will be afforded during the evening.

Tuition Tax Credits decried by convention

Washington officials are receiving a strong outcry against Tuition Tax Credits legislation from the delegates to the Illinois PTA's 80th Annual Convention held in Chicago last week. As an expression of their strong support for public education, the delegates wrote letters to President Ronald Reagan, Senator Alan J. Dixon, Senator Charles Percy, and congressmen opposing this support to private schools. They are continuing their efforts by telephoning the White House, sending public opinion messages and carrying their campaign back to their local units all over the state.
The Illinois PTA is concerned about the government losing a massive tax revenue estimated at $7 billion as people deduct their tuition tax credit. "Our nation cannot afford this at a time when the administration is cutting back on support for the bill, the handicapped, the poor and the needy. There can be no justification for launching a massive new government subsidy for the wealthy and for private schools. Nor can a Congress that is also committed to reduced spending justify the creation of an expensive new program that will result in an unpredictable cost spiral as additional taxpayers apply for the tax credit," Arlene Ziehl, legislation spokesman for the Illinois PTA, said.
She expressed concern that tuition tax credits would promote a dual school system, with a far greater tax advantage to wealthy families, leaving the poorest students and those with the greatest special needs in the public schools. Mrs. Ziehl added that in this time of declining enrollments, financial needs of the public schools have not diminished proportionately.
Inflationary expenses and the need to maintain a viable core of librarians, special needs instructors and administrative personnel has kept education expenses from rapidly declining. In addition, failure to fully fund mandated programs is a continued burden to local public schools.
The incentive of tax tuition credits for private education could result in fewer students and reduced state aid for local school districts at a time when they cannot afford the financial loss. The Illinois PTA is concerned about this problem, she concluded.

Sanitary District pressed for land trade decision

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

The Metro-East Sanitary District wants assurance that a 22-acre section of swampy marshland — the last of the American Bottoms wetlands — will ultimately become a gift to the state before the sanitary district will approve trading the land for a 70-acre drainage site.

Negotiations between the state and the district have been continuing since 1979, but now the district has been asked to make a decision by Saturday.

The deadline was issued by a non-profit group. The Nature Conservancy, which has an option on purchasing the 70-acre trade-off land parcel. According to Ralph Brown, director of the group's Illinois chapter, its option on the land expires in two days.

The land trade would give the Sanitary District an alternative to diverting its excess surface water flows into Horseshoe Lake, if the state should demand that the district stop water, sediment and debris dumpings at the lake.

According to Board Member Dave Bergfield, the state claims it costs about $100,000 annually to counteract the sediment buildup.

Judith Faulkner, field representative for the Illinois Nature Preserves Commission, operating under the auspices of the state, brought Nature Conservancy officials and district board members together Tuesday morning in hopes of reaching a final land agreement.

She said, the district's "high quality" swampy-marsh area was discovered during a 1978 state natural areas inventory. The site is among about 630 other relatively-undisturbed plant and animal communities in the state.

The land, located off Interstate 55 and east of Cahokia Mounds State Park, resembles conditions found by the first settlers to the American Bottoms.

She envisions the acreage becoming a "look and learn" experience for visitors, who would get a unique opportunity to view rare plants and animals in surroundings, which have existed for the past 200 years.

She said the site represents a museum piece of natural history. "This is the last of this type in the American Bottoms," said Judith Faulkner. "At one time, it was all wet...a wonderful habitat for game."

Great blue herons, which are becoming scarce, presently use the shrub and marshy ponding area to feed, as do migrating water fowl.

Brown told the Sanitary District Board the property would be given to the state at no cost, if acquired by the non-profit group. Board President Walter "Shang" Greathouse warned that he does not want The Nature Conservancy to turn around and sell the property at a profit.

According to Brown, his group has been called in by Judith Faulkner at the end of this arrangement because of his organization's real estate expertise.

The Nature Conservancy funds are donated by private individuals, he said. The organization is based in Arlington, Va., and has been buying and giving away land for over 30 years.

Brown praised the Sanitary District's cooperation in "an innovative and creative project."

Greathouse said, on the surface the offer is a "good deal," but he still approaches the idea with a bit of caution. One reason he gave was the board's unfamiliarity with The Nature Conservancy and the Illinois Nature Preserves Commission.

Brown submitted a contract to the board for the trade and requested a final decision when the board meets tomorrow morning.

If the board decides not to accept the offer, the land will remain in its present undisturbed state.

RARE HABITAT TRADE PROPOSED. The Metro-East Sanitary District is expected to decide tomorrow whether or not to trade a 22-acre wedge of land, considered the last example of American Bottoms wetland, for 70 acres that could, in the future, relieve sediment build up at Horseshoe Lake. The land would eventually be donated by the purchasing group to the state. The site is located off Interstate 55 (right) and Black Lane (top) and east of Cahokia Mounds State Park.

Services held for Raymond Flinn

Memorial services were conducted on April 21, for Raymond L. Flinn, 71, of 728 Twenty-sixth Place, at the Herr Funeral Home in Collinsville, followed by cremation.

Mr. Flinn died April 15, 1982, at John Cochran Veterans' Hospital in St. Louis. He had been ill for six weeks.

He was born in Greenville, Ill., and had resided in this area for more than 20 years. Mr. Flinn was a retired carpenter.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Pat Shire of Los Angeles, Calif.; two sisters, Mrs. Mildred Chapman of Prescott, Ariz., and Mrs. Marie Clayton, Orlando, Fla.; four grandchildren, and two nieces, Sallie Bauer and Ruby Pyles, both of Granite City.

Higher fees

$331; Pontoon, $1,639, and Chouteau, $1,504.

The assessments apparently reflect the amount of funds lost to Granite City through lesser Medicare and Illinois Public Aid payments, limited by law and made to the city in lieu of the standard ambulance charges.

Alderman Sam Whitmer, chairman of the ambulance committee, said that although the agreement goes into effect Saturday, he does not expect each user municipality to have approved the contract by that date. "They would only have three days... (that) wouldn't be fair," Whitmer said.

He feels the city will allow a "reasonable length" of time for user townships and boards to approve the amended contract.

He said he had not yet been notified of any user municipalities planning to leave the Granite City ambulance service.

"When you really look at it, that's a lot of money," said Whitmer of the higher fee schedule, but mentioned the alternative would be higher Granite City tax bills.

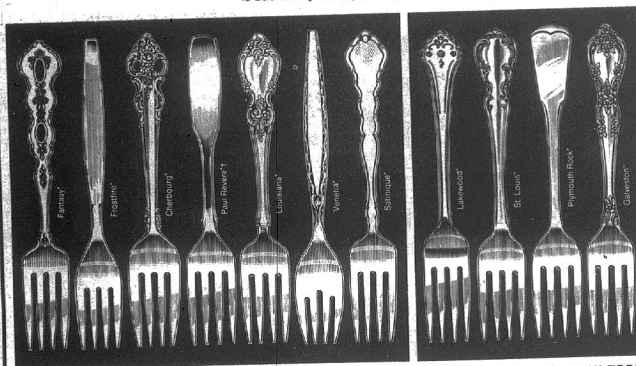

"In my opinion, it's about the best kind of thing we could work out," said Mayor Paul Schuler.

According to the mayor, the new agreement is an attempt by the city to get the ambulance service in the black during the new budget year, which also begins Saturday.

BLOCKING A PUNCH. Explorer Richard Rash, 16, left, deflects a blow aimed at him by fellow Explorer Bud Buhman during self-defense training during the weekend at Pere Marquette State Park, where members of Explorer Post 10-4 spent the weekend. The program, in addition to several hours practicing self-defense techniques of various types, included a rescue operation and organization during possible disaster such as flooding. Associate Advisors Tom Hooks and Terry Toth were the leaders of the weekend. The Explorers were taught by a former military police officer and Army Special Forces self-defense expert.

Laboratory at SEMC receives accreditation

St. Elizabeth Medical Center's laboratory has received accreditation from the College of American Pathologists (CAP). According to Dr. Robert Trinitly, laboratory director of SEMC, this accreditation is granted only after a rigorous inspection. A series of eight standards must be met prior to accreditation. The standards are as follows:

- 1-The pathology and clinical laboratories must have sufficient space, equipment and facilities for the performance of the work with optimum accuracy, precision and safety.
- 2-The laboratory must be directed by a physician with experience in pathology and the clinical laboratory can meet the requirements of a laboratory director under the Laboratory Improvement Act of 1967.
- 3-Sufficient personnel with training and experience adequate to supervise and conduct the work at the clinical laboratories shall be provided.
- 4-The laboratory must communicate and work closely with other services of the hospital and the medical staff.
- 5-A quality control system of the laboratory must be present to assure reliability of the laboratory data.

These are only a few of the standards that must be met prior to accreditation. Every three months for a year prior to inspection, the laboratory received 15 to 20 unknown samples from the CAP for analysis. The results of these unknowns are graded by the CAP.

In addition to this testing, the laboratory undergoes an on-site inspection conducted by members of the CAP. Dr. Trinitly reports that this is a detailed process taking into consideration policies, procedures, equipment, working conditions and much more. Deficiencies are noted by the pathologist-inspector and the inspecting team, which is composed of a senior medical technologist.

Major deficiencies must be corrected before accreditation can be granted. After the on-site inspection, the inspecting team files a report including recommendations with the CAP. The board of the CAP then decides if the laboratory should be accredited and if it should be for one year or two.

Although SEMC's laboratory received a two-year accreditation, Dr. Trinitly states that the inspection process does not end there. During the year between inspections, the lab is asked to do a "self-inspection" and fill out specified reports.

Because the inspections are carried out by working laboratorians, Dr. Trinitly said that their familiarity with laboratory procedures makes them particularly critical judges. So much so, in fact, that the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals waives inspection of laboratories that have CAP accreditation.

Dr. Trinitly went on to say that the laboratory staff should be commended for their efforts over the past year for working hard to meet the rigid requirements that the CAP demands for accreditation. The college has asked that Dr. Trinitly and his staff become a survey team and review other hospitals in the state.

Woman slashed, son is arrested

Mrs. Lois Walker, 52, of 2516 Benton St. was slashed with a butcher knife on the forehead and both hands, the blood-drenching her nightgown at her home at 3 a.m. Tuesday.

She was taken by ambulance and admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center. A half-hour earlier, when she had driven to the police building, officers removed her son, Dana E. Foster, 34, from the auto at her request; she said he had been drinking.

He walked north from the area. At 3, after she had retired for the night, she telephoned for the police when he allegedly broke glass and entered the front door of the residence they shared.

Taking a knife from the kitchen sink, he began cutting and hitting her with the knife, pushing her to the living room floor, he again struck her with the knife, it was alleged.

She fled to another room. As police arrived, they alleged hearing him threaten her and order that she not provide any information to police about her injuries.

Foster was arrested for aggravated battery and was jailed pending the posting of bond.

Legislation to fund rail modernization

New legislation would extend the preference share program of the Federal Railroad Administration through fiscal year 1988 and authorize funding of $100 million for the program.

Of the $100 million, $60 million would be targeted for St. Louis area railway facility modernization. Under present law, the preference share program would expire on Sept. 30, 1982.

The bill also provides that fiscal year 1982 appropriations to the St. Louis rail project may be used, if necessary, after Sept. 30. MARGE, the Metropolitan Area Rail Gateway Enterprise, is a $120 million program financed by affected railroads and the Federal Railroad Administration to modernize the area's rail facilities and speed handling of freight cars. The $2 appropriation to the project is $25 million. Co-sponsors of the new bill by Sen. Jack Danforth (R., Mo.) are Commerce Committee Chairman Bob Packwood (R., Ore.); Nancy Kassebaum (R., Kan.), a member of the Subcommittee on Surface Transportation; Charles Percy (R., Ill.); Alan Dixon (D., Ill.); and James Exon (D., Neb.).

Danforth, Chairman of the Surface Transportation Subcommittee, said he expects the bill to be scheduled for action by the Commerce Committee today.

The preference share program, created in 1976, provides for partial federal capitalization of rail modernization projects through the purchase of shares.

Within ten years, the railroads must begin repurchase of the shares from the government, with payments equal to 150 percent of the stock sale over a period of 30 years.

Danforth said extension of low-interest capitalization has been a vital catalyst in the MARGE project, in strengthening the financial condition of other rail systems, and in preserving essential service to many communities.

"This metropolitan area is the country's second largest railroad transportation center," Danforth said in his statement on the bill. However, its efficiency has been reduced significantly by antiquated railroad facilities. This has adversely affected shippers throughout the country.

It's also taken an economic toll on East St. Louis and surrounding communities whose revitalization depends on consolidating and improving existing railroad facilities.

Man hit, kicked, his car tire cut; 2 are arrested

Kenneth D. Harris, 24, of 1413 Seventh St., Madison, was arrested for battery and property damage after a $90 auto tire was cut at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday in an alley. Colin L. Harris, 18, of 2224 Washington Ave. was arrested for battery.

Charles R. Tankaley, 2145 Lee Ave., was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment of head and eye injuries.

Tankaley and his wife were attempting to drive into the garage at the rear of their home when blocked by two other autos.

The motorist was punched in the face, pushed to the ground and kicked by two men, one of whom slashed and deflated the left rear tire of Tankaley's car.

The Harris went to the police building at 10:50 p.m. Tuesday and were freed on $202 and $102 bail at 11:45 p.m.

RELEASED ON BOND
Michael J. Mayes, 25, of 56 Lee Wright Homes, Venice, was released at 11:30 a.m. Monday on $204 cash bond. He was charged at 4:15 a.m. Monday with unlawful possession of weapon as he allegedly possessed a switchblade knife and an 8-inch fishing knife. He also was charged with possession of cannabis, allegedly having in excess of 2.5 grams with him when arrested. Mayes also was issued a traffic citation for allegedly abandoning his auto in the middle of Route 3 at Broadway.

Early pregnancy classes are for women less than six months pregnant. These classes are held for three consecutive weeks and offer instruction in nutrition, exercise and breast conditioning. Women also learn how their bodies change during pregnancy and how the fetus develops.

Prepared Childbirth classes are for women from their sixth month of pregnancy until delivery. This five-week series of classes includes the Lamaze method of breathing and relaxation, body conditioning, breastfeeding information and an introduction to baby care. Participants learn about the process of labor and delivery and the types of analgesics used in labor. A tour of the Obstetrics Department also is provided.

Expectant mothers interested in the classes may register by calling the Obstetrics Department at 798-3040.

"Women Helping Women" is her theme and she has enthusiastically supported that concept throughout her business and BPW activities. She is a 16-year member of the Granite City club in which she has held most offices, including president, and many chairmanships. She also has served in several official capacities at the BPW District 14 level.

Women of the Americas at Mexico City in 1978.

The Granite City woman will succeed Anna Holland of Arlington Heights (Ill.) as BPW state president. Candidates seeking state office in the election, scheduled from 11:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. Saturday, include: Elizabeth Metka, executive secretary, Chicago Sun-Times Promotion Department, president-elect; Salvation Army Major Beale Marshall of Oak Park, first vice president; Patricia Hlatil of LaGrange, assistant business manager, Regency Company, second vice president; Norma DiVito of Mount Prospect, assistant secretary, Compact Industries, recording secretary; and Sandra Shilin, inventory control coordinator, Houghton Mifflin Publishing Co., treasurer.

Rescue elderly man from Horseshoe Lake

A lucky glance by a dredge operator at Quality Sand Co. on Horseshoe Lake is believed responsible for saving the life of an elderly St. Louis man whose fishing boat overturned in the lake about 11:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Dredge Operator Forest Huskamp was bringing sand out of the lake when he noticed the boat. When he leaned over to get in his tackle box, the boat rocked harder and then overturned, throwing him into the cold water.

He estimated he clung to the boat for a half hour before Huskamp spotted him and rescue efforts began.

Since the incident occurred on state park property, the Illinois Department of Conservation was notified and sent a ranger to pick Meade up and assist him. They took him to the Horseshoe Lake ranger station where they warmed him with blankets and warm beverages.

Meade said he did not feel it necessary to go to the hospital, but admitted he was still shaky and cold after his ordeal.

Street Department Superintendent Max Warfield brought in a $1,150,834 tentative budget, exceeding his guidelines by about $131,000. The figure could be higher if Warfield gets two extra workers and equipment purchases he thinks are necessary for his department.

Alderman Fred "Pat" Schuman of the finance committee, however, suggested that the street department compromise this year and cut the excess in half.

Warfield told Warfield that any amount over his department's assigned figures means, "We're talking about borrowing."

Schuman suggested the street department prepare its 1983-84 budget in advance, so needed capital expenditures can be reflected when setting the tax levy this fall.

Warfield had prepared an additional "wish list" of $160,150 of capital expenditures. He said that at the top of that list are two snow plows and two salt spreaders to see the city through any winter. According to Warfield, such equipment is difficult to rent during heavy snows.

Gushfield commented, "This was never meant to be a witch hunt. We're not out to fire anyone. What we are trying to do is work the situation out to get the work done in the city."

Madison also has a year sick leave, which may be accumulated to 90 days.

Warfield also said the city is in immediate need of its own small sewer cleaning machine.

Among other items on Warfield's capital expenditures wish list are two pickup trucks, two bob tail trucks, a highlift, radios, yard concrete mixer and a $20,000 clam shell.

He said he has been able to repair one of city's street sweepers and is purchasing another street sweeper on a lease-purchase arrangement through motor fuel tax funds.

His tentative budget does provide for the purchase of $20,000 in small equipment, including small trucks, chain saws, gloves and rakes.

He plans to meet with the finance committee again to update his tentative budget projections.

Police Chief Ronald Veizer presented the finance committee with an approximate year break-even budget of $1,309,400.

Veizer said his main objection to the city cop's budget is the lack of funding for four dispatchers and one policeman still on layoff status.

The law mandates all sewerage systems be upgraded for secondary treatment.

The council approved the installation of top signs at all railroad crossings now protected by railroad crossback signs as an added safety measure. The top signs also will be erected in alleys where railroad tracks cross.

Second Ward Alderman Gushfield said, "When is the street and alley committee going to meet in regard to the problem with some of the street department workers taking so much time off?"

Mayor Sanyk replied, "All the men are back to work now on the street department. Maybe the article in the State and local tax local below national average

Despite what many believe, the state and local tax load on Illinoisans based upon income is slightly less than the national average, State Comptroller Roland W. Burris reported Friday.

But in property taxes, Burris said, Illinois is the third highest among 12 neighboring or comparable states, based on 1980 national figures newly published.

In his monthly fiscal report, the comptroller examines the Illinois tax climate, comparing both national figures and those of neighboring Indiana, Iowa, Missouri, Michigan, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania, and the Sun Belt states of California, Florida and Texas.

"Though exact comparisons are not fully possible because of the diversity of taxes nationally, a good perspective of Illinois taxation emerges clearly," Burris said.

"Are we gaining on inflation? The Illinois economic picture fits a significant drop in the past year and pinpoints the areas of decline."

"As to the state's fiscal condition, revenues are up over the first nine months of last year, but the state still spent $5 million more than its income in that period."

Here are highlights of the special report on Illinois' tax climate:

— SALES TAXES. Illinois' four percent rate is about average. There were lower rates or no sales taxes in 21 states, 12 had identical rates, and 16 states plus the District of Columbia had higher levies.

Among the 12 neighboring or similar states to Illinois: The sales tax rate in Illinois was higher than in Iowa and Missouri; equal to Florida, Indiana, Michigan, New York, Texas and Wisconsin; and lower than the rates in California, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Of the 45 states levying sales taxes, 26 fully exempt food, seven provide credits for food taxes, and 11 states tax food fully. Illinois partially exempts food.

Minnesota, Nevada, Ohio, Washington and West Virginia raised sales taxes in the past calendar year. New Mexico reduced its rate slightly.

— INCOME TAXES. Forty-five states and the District of Columbia levy state income taxes.

The five states which have no state income taxes are Nevada, South Dakota, Texas, Washington and Wyoming.

Looking at the 11 other neighboring and comparable states in the special analysis, Texas has neither corporate nor personal income taxes, depending heavily on oil.

Illinois' 6.5 percent corporate tax rate (four percent regular income tax and 2.5 percent replacement income tax) is greater than Florida, Indiana (which is going up to seven percent), Michigan and Missouri, but less than the rates in California, Iowa, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

Ten of the 12 special analysis states have personal income taxes. Four, including Illinois, levy flat rates, while the rest are progressive.

Of the 12 survey states, local income taxes are additionally levied in Indiana, Michigan, Missouri, New York, Ohio, and Pennsylvania.

— PROPERTY TAXES. Among the 12 special analysis states, Illinois property taxes were the third highest at $387 per person. The national average for 1980 was $392.

Michigan ($414) and New York ($501) topped Illinois. What does a typical homeowner pay in property taxes in Illinois?

The average for single family homes with FHA insured mortgages in Illinois (in 1980) was above the national average, but not greatly different from that of Iowa, Pennsylvania, Texas and Wisconsin.

Nine of the 12 survey states provide homestead exemptions, and 10 of the 12 states grant Circuit Breaker tax relief to senior citizens and to the disabled.

— MOTOR FUEL TAXES. Illinois' flat rate 7 1/2 cents per gallon tax is greater than that in four states, but less than 44 other states and the District of Columbia.

But Illinois also adds sales tax to purchases, making Illinois gas taxes the tenth highest nationally at the end of 1980. Only eight states levied both fuel and sales taxes on gasoline.

During calendar 1981, gasoline taxes increased in 22 states due to legislation or tax indexing.

Among our neighboring states, Wisconsin boosted its rate to 13 cents per gallon, Indiana climbed to 11.1 cents, and Iowa went from 10 cents to 13 cents a gallon.

— "SIN" TAXES. Illinois levies a 12 cents per pack tax on cigarettes.

North Carolina is the lowest with two cents per pack; Rhode Island is highest at 25 cents per pack.

Among our neighboring states, Wisconsin's rate is 20 cents, Indiana 10 1/2 cents, Iowa 10 cents and Missouri, nine cents a pack.

On liquor, Illinois taxes alcohol and spirits at $2.00 a gallon; seven cents a gallon on beer, 23 cents a gallon on wine (14 percent alcohol or less) and 60 cents a gallon on wine with more than 14 percent alcohol.

On a per capita basis, Illinois collected $6.86 per person in fiscal year 1980. In Missouri, the per capita figure was $5.46, but in Florida it was a whopping $30.49.

Way cleared for mini-park

Local governmental bodies have cooperated to clear the way for creation of a mini-park at 19th Street and Delmar Avenue.

The city owns half of the vacant site and will obtain control of the other half through fellow taxing agencies' waiver of their claims to past property taxes.

As outlined by Joseph Parente and Gene Gunderson, the scenic mini-park is one of a series of goals developed for downtown Granite City redevelopment. The corner ultimately could include an entertainment area, concessions and public restrooms.

If it ceases to be used for the general public, partial ownership would revert to the governmental bodies.

Merchants, businesses, organization leaders and citizens are discussing scheduling seminars on marketing techniques and developing a design or theme to symbolize the central business district.

Proposed downtown improvements include a 19th Street walking mall or semi-mall, additional small parks, repaving of streets, reconstruction of sidewalks, renovation of upper levels of buildings for business use, provision of parking spaces and a sidewalk cafe, installation of drinking fountains and seating, moving of bus shelters, and hiring of a full-time maintenance person to enhance the appearance of the area.

The tax waiver at 1302 Nineteenth St. relates to 31 feet of frontage of 100-foot-long property formerly owned by Leo and Hattie Lowitz.

Back taxes have accumulated to $3,651 and, with interest and penalties, the total is $5,382. The present assessment is $1,140 and yearly taxes amount to about $70.

It's planting time for warm season vegetables. Early May is the normal season for tomatoes, peppers, beans, okra, eggplant, cucumbers, squash, melons, and sweet corn. A few gardeners have successfully made some early season plantings of these crops but now is the best time. Use clear or black plastic mulch on long season crops such as the vine crops, tomatoes and peppers to help give weed control and also to aid in warming up the soil for early growth.

Rhubarb plants are trying to bloom. This natural development is related to this spring, but to nature. For best yields, keep the flower heads cut out so that growth is forced into the leaves and stalks.

Rhubarb can be eaten after cold temperatures if no injury symptoms are visible. Recent freeze injury has injured some stems and greens, and turnips to make room for new growth.

Many vegetable plantings are overcrowded. Vegetable plants need adequate space for optimum development. Thin lettuce, onions, beets, carrots, greens, and turnips to spacing indicated on the seed package or handbook so they have room to grow. Be prepared for insects. Flea beetles (little black or gray insects that jump and hide from you) will be on radishes, sweet corn, potatoes, and are waiting for eggplant. Cutworms will be around to eat beans or transplants.

Watch for these pests and treat with carbaryl or diazinon according to the label on the package. Repeat plantings to extend harvest season later.

Crops such as sweet corn, beans, kohlrabi, and radishes have short harvest periods. This can be extended by making more plantings. Sweet corn is best planted every week for continuous harvest during the summer.

Another method to extend harvest is to plant several varieties with different maturity dates. This works well with cabbage and sweet corn.

Bearing fruit plants need spraying. This is the season for rapid growth of fruit and leaves, whereby they grow out of a protective pesticide covering. All fruits should be sprayed immediately after the majority of the flower petals have fallen.

It is also the time when protection is needed from the many insects and diseases that are active. A spray program on a 7 to 10 day schedule should give good protection at this time.

Non-bearing peaches, apricots, sweet cherries and other trees need spraying only to protect from defoliation.

Keep weeds from getting established. The secret to weed control is to stay ahead of them. Shallow cultivation or hoeing is the best way to kill seedling weeds. Mulches will prevent them from growing. Apply Dacthal to new strawbed plantings that are weed-free.

Train fruit plants right. On new strawberry plantings, blossoms should be removed to conserve energy within the plant. New grapes should be trained to one or two shoots, with all other shoots removed or pinched back.

On young trees, try to select shoots that will become the leader and/or scaffold branches and pinch out the growing point of competing shoots.

Keep asparagus harvested. Asparagus should be harvested so that fern leaves do not develop. This will keep new spears coming. Harvesting may continue until early June on established plantings.

Plant healthy transplants. Good, vigorous, green transplants that are ready to grow in your garden are the best to plant. If they are pale green, yellow, brown, or withered, or with spotted leaves, they may be best to look for healthy plants.

— OVERALL TAXES PER PERSON. The combined state and local tax load on Illinoisans in 1980, per capita, was $1,084, which is $97 above the national average.

But when that figure is adjusted to the personal income of Illinoisans, the state and local tax load works out to 11.2 percent, below the U.S. average of 11.6 percent.

New York had the highest overall tax burden of the states surveyed at 15.3 percent while Indiana was the lowest with 8.8 percent of personal income.

The property tax in Illinois remains a primary funding source for Illinois governments. In fiscal 1980, it produced 33.3 percent of the state and local tax revenues in our state. Nationally, the average was 30.6 percent.

Gardens here are a little late this spring

Spring 1982 is now slightly behind normal in Southwestern Illinois. Thus, it is behind 1981 and ahead of 1980.

Perennial plant growth can make up lost time with a few days of above-normal temperatures. But the cool season annual vegetables will not catch up.

However, there is ample time for good garden growth and yield if proper culture is given.

Based on the weather conditions of this spring and historical growth patterns, the appearance of the area.

College balances budget, sees no need for tax hike in 1980s

After hearing a bright financial forecast, the Belleville Area College Board of Trustees has approved spending $200,000 for personnel and equipment. No tax hike is believed necessary this decade.

Presenting a third-quarter budget report, the BAC president, Dr. Bruce Wisore, said the college will end the 1981-82 year with more than $300,000 "in the black."

About $27,000 left after current expenditures will be used to augment the college's fund balance. That balance will have grown from $23,428 in 1980 to $1.4 million by June 30, the end of the current fiscal year, he said.

The increase marks the second year of an effort to reverse a deficit-trending trend that saw the fund balance drop by an average of $85,000 a year from 1974 to 1980, Dr. Wisore added.

Money released by the board will be used for projects that include refinishing the old gymnasium floor, improving the tennis courts and renovating an accounting classroom.

Two school vans will be replaced and a tractor will be bought.

Most of the $200,000 will be used for instructional equipment ranging from books and dictionaries to welders. Data processing equipment will be purchased for the registrar's office.

In other action last week, the board approved a two-year contract for custodial employees.

The 23-person custodial staff will receive 11.5 percent increases each year, or 85 cents an hour in 1982-83 and 95 cents an hour in 1983-84.

A newly elected student trustee, Sharon Owens of Belleville, took the oath of office. She replaces Tamara Jones of Belleville.

Alfred Jorns was appointed assistant superintendent of buildings and grounds and David Buesch was hired as groundskeeper supervisor.

Jorns previously served on the college's custodial staff at the Granite City Day Center.

Buesch, a graduate of BAC's agronomy and turf programs and a former student at the University of Maryland, has managed the Westhaven Golf Course since June 1981. His appointment marks the addition of a grounds person to the BAC staff.

Regarding finances, Dr. Wisore commented last week that "in unprecedented financial cutbacks, Belleville Area College is ahead of the battle."

"A balanced budget will be presented for the coming fiscal year which begins July 1."

"For the second year in a row, our college has turned around a seven-year trend that saw the school's fund balance depleted."

"The balance, which enables the college to meet financial emergencies, is likely to total $1.4 million at the end of the current fiscal year."

"Two years ago, BAC drew a lot of criticism, and had little opportunity to reply, particularly since we prefer to stand on our record."

"The financial results we achieved last year were worth the fight. This year, when times were even tougher, BAC has done even better."

"The Board of Trustees, the administration and the majority of the staff of BAC dedicated their efforts to changing the way the college operated."

"They met criticism and interference from a minority of the staff who did not want the change to occur."

"But the change did occur and it's my pleasure to give the results of the second year operating under the new system — and to make a prediction for the future."

"In the state of Illinois and in this country in general, times are tough. All indications are that they will get tougher before they get better. But I believe that what has happened at BAC can give everyone some hope for the future."

"This community college has been able to meet the financial pinch by improved efficiency throughout the school," Pres. Wisore said.

"Those improvements have not been at the expense of the quality of education and services offered to the students."

"All indicators of academic outcomes are positive," he said, pointing to recent reports from Southern Illinois University that BAC transfers attending both the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses have earned higher, grade-point averages than graduates of other community colleges and students who have attended the four-year school since their freshman year.

Placement studies show that graduates of BAC career programs are finding jobs despite a bleak employment picture, he added.

"We're experiencing innovation in our curriculum," Dr. Wisore said, "including successful introduction of television courses during the fall of 1981."

"We have cut no programs. And we have not had — and next year will not have — any layoffs of full-time personnel outside the grant programs over which we do not have financial control."

"These things have been accomplished because the board and administration have been willing to say 'no' even when it was unpopular to do so."

Among steps taken to reverse the spending trend, as outlined by Dr. Wisore, were:

— Requiring greater accountability from the administrative staff.

— Maximizing opportunities for creative, positive change.

— Demanding and rewarding positive attitudes.

— Emphasizing communication.

— Learning the cost of profit margin of each program at the college.

— Improving the budgeting process and gaining tighter control over each budgetary unit; and — Allowing payroll reductions through attrition.

BAC will receive no increase in state funding next year. Despite that, he said the college will have a balanced budget.

"We may not be able to continue to operate our organization exactly as we did in the past."

"We may have to accomplish the same results with less. But it can be done. And, in fact, the results achieved may even be superior to those of the past."

"We all have a greater state in success now. There is almost no room for error or inefficiency."

"As is always the case, the greater the challenge, the greater the effort and, therefore, the greater the result."

"I hope every citizen and taxpayer is as proud of this board as are the people who work for it."

"The current financial strength and high academic quality of BAC are a direct result of the trustees' many hours of work their munificence and their courage to maintain a course of action they believed in even through the most difficult of times."

"Much of the college's ability to cope with the problems of the coming year springs from the work of the college's blue ribbon committee of 1980. That group, composed of area citizens, helped the trustees gain a feeling for the mood of the community."

"Fortunately for the district, the Board of Trustees recognized the college's $35,000-a-year problem and was only satisfied with a $600,000-a-year solution.

"Because of actions taken by the board, a tax increase should not be needed during the 1980s."

SEEK FOSTER HOME FOR GIRL FROM LARGE FAMILY
A one or two parent foster family is being sought for Lela, a sixteen year old ward of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, according to Pat Stallion, homefinder for Madison and St. Clair counties.

Described as pleasant and attractive, Lela is 5'2" tall, weighs 107 pounds and has blonde hair and hazel eyes. Coming from a family of 11 children, Lela, who greatly enjoys knitting and other arts and crafts is used to sharing and getting along with others.

Although she has run away from home in the past, she is now ready to accept a job, according to Phil Lytle, supervisor in the department's Belleville field office.

"This is a real turning point for Lela," who has never before been in foster care, Lytle said. He explained that a single foster mother or two-parent foster family willing to help Lela develop the survival skills she needs to find and keep a job could make the difference in this girl's life.

We hope a family will come forward now that she is willing to accept help," Lytle said. "She is not a delinquent and can do well in a normal family."

Foster families are urgently needed now throughout this area, Miss Stallion said. All foster families are oriented, trained and supported by department staff.

After attending four training sessions, submitting references and medical information and visiting with department licensing workers, new foster parents are ready to accept children. A criminal background check also is completed on all foster parent applicants. This process usually takes about two months.

Seek foster home for girl from large family

Regular foster parents, who may turn down any child referred by the department, receive a board fee ranging from $100 per month for an infant to $235 for a teenager. Additional special fees are available for all medical, dental and pharmaceutical expenses for foster children are paid by the state.

The department also offers another program called "professional foster care" in which foster parents deal with teenagers with more problems are paid a total of $450 per month for each child served. Professional foster parents receive additional training and support from department social workers.

Illinois residents interested in learning more about the department's foster home program or in providing a home for Lela may call Shirley Faber at 876-8885.

Rail car oversupply hurts Amsted sales

Amsted Industries Incorporated sales in the six months ended March 31 were $20.3 million, down $115.8 million or 27 percent from the same period a year ago. The firm owns the American Steel Foundries in Granite City.

Earnings amounted to $5.8 million, or 54 cents per share, down from $22.5 million or $2.64 per share. Net income amounted to 1.8 percent of sales compared to 3.5 percent a year ago.

Robert H. Wellington, Amsted president, said the reduction in earnings was primarily due to lower sales volume.

Income was favorably affected by $2.1 million in lower pension costs, principally because of a change in interest rate assumptions made in the third quarter of fiscal 1981, and an increase from 10 to 30 years in the amortization period of prior service cost for certain plans.

Income also was favorably affected by $1.1 million from reduction of inventories valued on a LIFO (last in, first out) basis. This method values most of the inventory at less than prevailing costs and results in a favorable impact on profits when inventory quantities are reduced.

Income in the March 1981 quarter included $1.5 million from a gain on the sale of a minority interest in a Mexican railroad products manufacturer.

In January through March, sales amounted to $133.7 million, down $60.4 million from the same period last year. Net income was $2.2 million, or 21 cents per share, compared to $12.2 million or $1.28 per share.

Net income in the March quarter amounted to 1.5 percent of sales compared to 3.2 percent in the comparable period last year.

In the last six months, railroad product sales of $116.5 million were down $97.5 million, or 46 percent, reflecting the low level of freight car building and reduced demand for repair components.

Construction and building product sales amounted to $89.3 million, down $13.1 million or 13 percent, due to lower sales of pressure pipe for water transmission, resulting from a decreased level of housing starts, and lower volume of pre-cast, metal shipments.

Sales of general industrial products were $107.3 million, down $5.2 million or five percent from last year.

Following is a comparison of the pre-tax operating income generated by each of the product categories for the first six months of the 1982 and 1981 fiscal years, based on sales less operating expenses before allocation of general corporate expenses, interest income and gains on the sale of investments.

Net unallocated items amounted to an expense of $1.2 million in 1982, and an income of $800,000 in 1981. Lower interest income in 1982 and the 1981 gain on the sale of the interest in the Mexican firm were major items causing the variance from last year.

Pre-tax income from railroad products was $12.1 million, down from $33.7 million; construction and building products $600,000, compared to $4.4 million; and general industrial products, $9.3 million, down from $13.4 million.

Instead of contributing 65 percent of the operating income, to 26 percent general and nine percent building, the railroad products segment fell to 11 percent to 84 percent general and five percent construction products.

The decrease in operating income for all product segments was due largely to lower sales volume. Price weakness was also a factor in railroad products.

Reduced profit margins in manufacturing automation equipment and filters contributed to the lower income from general industrial products.

Pres. Wellington said that additions to property in the six months were $26.3 million. Present plans call for property additions of about $45 million in fiscal 1982.

Projects include completion of a new railroad wheel plant near Columbus, Ohio, as well as capacity additions at existing plants for increased production of freight car trucks, wheels and couplers, locomotive wheels, water pipe products, roller chain, and piston pins.

Working capital at March 31, 1982, was $123.4 million. Current assets, including cash and short-term investments of $24.1 million, total $210.2 million. Current liabilities are $86.8 million.

There was no short-term or long-term debt. It is anticipated that borrowing, if any, will not be significant in the balance of the fiscal year.

Wellington said Amsted's backlog of orders March 31 was $188 million, compared to $225 million on Sept. 30, 1981, and $282 million a year ago.

The backlog for new and repair freight car components was $56 million, down $78 million from a year ago and down $30 million from September.

Looking at the balance of fiscal 1982, which ends Sept. 30, Wellington said the outlook is for a continued low level of earnings, compared to last year, but improved over the first half of this year.

A temporary oversupply of certain types of freight cars in service, the depressing effect of high interest rates on housing starts, and a soft economy are factors affecting the short-term outlook.

The quarterly dividend payable June 15 to holders of record May 20 will be 62 cents a share.

State Insurance Director Philip R. O'Connor said his department will monitor promptly to investigate the three insurance companies, whose practices are in question.

"One of the many factors

Check 3 insurers of injured workers

The Illinois Industrial Commission has launched the third phase of its program of administrative reform of the state's workers' compensation system, referring allegations of unfair practices and claims delays by three insurance companies to the Illinois Insurance Department for investigation.

"The cases represent extremely poor behavior by these insurers in instances involving seriously injured workers," said Rebecca Schneiderman, commission chairman.

"We are acting under the terms of the workers' compensation statute to determine if these particular cases are isolated or part of a pattern which promotes needless litigation, causes undue hardship to injured employees, and increases costs of administration."

"The Industrial Commission has had substantial success in its initial two phases of reform," she said. "First, we have done much to professionalize the staff and streamline the internal procedures."

"Next, we have taken steps to prevent needless or frivolous litigation, eliminating awards for minor injuries such as scratches, bumps and bruises."

The IIC has held an extensive statewide series of seminars to acquaint labor and management personnel with compensation procedures. It also has distributed more than 750,000 employee handbooks on the compensation system.

"Although there is still a long road to travel, we have already seen a 15 percent reduction in cases," she said, "with 60,000 in 1981, down from 71,000 in 1980."

"The 1980 figure was down 22 percent from 1979, when 77,000 cases were filed."

"As part of our effort, we will not allow responsible parties to avoid obligations to workers injured on the job."

State Insurance Director Philip R. O'Connor said his department will monitor promptly to investigate the three insurance companies, whose practices are in question.

"One of the many factors

Runaway car hits 2 fences

A runaway auto caused damage at Lincoln Avenue and Henry Street at 9:10 a.m. Tuesday.

When James E. Lewis, 437 Alton Ave., Madison, left the engine of a 1972 car running while he temporarily left the vehicle at 2601 Lincoln, it slipped into reverse gear, crossed the street, jumped a curb and knocked down 21 feet of chain link fence at the side of the corner home of Mike Boyd at 2548 Lincoln.

The auto continued along Henry Street and circled into an alley. The left rear of the vehicle damaged 15 feet of fencing at the rear of the Simon Thomas residence at 2546 Lincoln before the car came to a halt.

In addition to examining the companies' payment and negotiation practices, we also will determine whether they have in-house procedures to assure that the state's information handbook is provided to injured employees or their families at the time of the accident.

"We also are interested in procedures for review of medical bills, so that there are controls against unnecessary or unreasonable expenses."

"The Industrial Commission has had substantial success in its initial two phases of reform," she said. "First, we have done much to professionalize the staff and streamline the internal procedures."

"Next, we have taken steps to prevent needless or frivolous litigation, eliminating awards for minor injuries such as scratches, bumps and bruises."

The IIC has held an extensive statewide series of seminars to acquaint labor and management personnel with compensation procedures. It also has distributed more than 750,000 employee handbooks on the compensation system.

"The 1980 figure was down 22 percent from 1979, when 77,000 cases were filed."

"As part of our effort, we will not allow responsible parties to avoid obligations to workers injured on the job."

State Insurance Director Philip R. O'Connor said his department will monitor promptly to investigate the three insurance companies, whose practices are in question.

GRANITE CITY — Granite City North treated their cross-town rival, Granite City South, Wednesday just as the Steelers treated the Warriors during South's tournament.

The Steelers swept a doubleheader from South, winning the first game 4-1 and the nightcap 14-11.

North hit three home runs in the double header. The Steelers' Steve Trittschuh hit a grand slam home run in the second game, and Mike Sullivan hit a sole home run in the first game as did Daren DePew in the second game.

The first game was a much stronger contest, showing the relative equality of North and South.

Governor declares next week 'All Sports Week'

SPRINGFIELD — Governor James R. Thompson proclaimed May 24 as Physical Fitness and Sports for All Week in Illinois and encouraged state employees and other citizens to take part in physical fitness activities.

"Physical fitness is an important ingredient of our lives," Thompson said. "As a nation, we are becoming more aware of this. This week will help focus on the importance and benefits of good health through exercise both in government and private business."

On Wednesday, May 5, the Governor's Council on Health and Fitness will sponsor State Employees Fitness Day, which will include a series of events and activities for state employees.

State employees across the state will be encouraged to take part in non-competitive walking, jogging or biking activities to show that exercise can be fit into work time.

On May 6, the Governor's Council and the Rockford YMCA will sponsor the Governor's Conference on Fitness and Health in the Workplace. The conference will focus on exercise at work and how it can reduce stress and absenteeism, increase worker production and lift morale.

Dr. George Sheehan, a cardiologist, nationally noted fitness expert and noted author on running, will be the main speaker at the all-day conference. The conference will be held at the Clocktower Inn in Rockford.

People registering should contact Lois Schiehuber, Rockford YMCA, 200 Y Boulevard, Rockford, 61107, 304 or call her at 815-967-2288. The conference registration fee is $85.

Also, Illinois Women: Fit For Life conferences will be held this month and in May.

Y swimmers fair well in meet

Three young people from Granite City have just returned from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. where they competed in the 1982 YMCA National Swimming Championships.

Patti Martin, 12, a student at St. Elizabeth's grade school, was one of the youngest swimmers from this area to qualify and take part in the meet. She swam in the women's 200-yard butterfly and also in the 400-yard medley relay.

Cindi Strothelme, 15, a junior at Granite City North, swam in both the women's 200-yard and 400-yard freestyle relays.

Mike Geske, 15, also a student at Granite City North, participated in the men's 200-yard freestyle relay, and swam the butterfly leg of the 400-yard medley relay.

Over 3,500 swimmers from fifty states participated in this year's National Championships. This meet was the culmination of a season in which the swimmers worked their way up through district and state levels of competition to attain national qualifying times.

The three local swimmers represented the Edwardsville YMCA Breakers Swim Team, and swam under the coaching of Mrs. Denise Batke.

GRANITE CITY — One week ago the Warrior tennis team systematically defeated their cross-town rival Steelers 5 to 2. Wednesday, the Steelers avenged that loss as they defeated the Warriors by the same score.

The Warriors won the first match as South's John Menendez quickly disposed of North's Kendall Whittington 6-0, 6-1.

In second singles South's Matt Sheridan, who had defeated North's Dave Lipe the week before, lost to Lipe in three sets 7-6, 4-6, 5-7.

Last week in third singles South's Charlie Miles defeated North's Jesse Byrd. Wednesday Miles faced Everett Jolly, falling 6-4, 6-2.

Byrd, who had moved to fourth singles defeated South's Brian Sparks 6-4, 6-1.

"We made some changes in our teams," said Steeler coach John Buskirk. "I'm not going to tell you it doesn't make our team better, because it does."

"I moved Jolly and Lipe to first singles because I want those two to get some experience. I'm thinking of entering them in a tournament," Van Buskirk said.

In addition to North's Jolly-Byrd singles shuffle, the Steelers have moved number one singles player Whittington to the number two doubles slot with Steeler John Acosta. Prior to the shuffle Whittington was teamed with Lipe for North's first doubles team.

Jolly, who was on the second doubles team with Acosta, replaced Whittington on the first doubles team.

Evidently the shuffle has made North a better team. Since doing so they have won four in a row, defeating Jerseyville, Cahokia, Triad and most recently South.

Their latest victory puts North over the 500 mark with a five and four record.

South's record drops to 6 and 9. South's Sheridan and Menendez teamed to defeat North's first doubles team of Lipe and Jolly in straight sets 6-1, 6-1.

In second doubles action Whittington and Acosta teamed to defeat South's Miles and Kevin Dickerson 6-4, 6-3 to give North their fourth win of the afternoon.

Venice downs Metro-East for first victory

EDWARDSVILLE — Tuesday afternoon the Venice Red Devil softball team picked up their first victory of the season with a 22 to 15 win over conference rival Metro-East Lutheran.

The visiting Red Devils took a four to two lead in the first inning and never relinquished it.

In the second inning Metro-East scored three to Venice's two to move to within a single run at six to five. That is where he has also lettered four years.

Daily is one of 88 senior football athletes selected statewide to compete in the east-west gridiron game. He will be coached by Larry Davis, head coach at Mt. Carmel High School.

South's football coach, Jerry McKeahan, had high praise for Daily. "Rick's a super young man with great hands. He can catch the ball anywhere it's thrown," McKeahan said.

The Shriners of the Mohammed Shrine Temple, under the Bloomington-Normal Shrine Club, will handle tickets, programs, publicity, and promotion of the game.

Tickets can be ordered from the All-Star Football Ticket Office, box 1331, Bloomington, Ill. 61701.

Tickets for the game are $5 for reserved seats and $3 for general admission.

A Venice nine-run third inning buried the Knights and their hopes of a victory. From that point, with the score 15 to 8, each team traded runs, each scoring seven runs in the final innings.

Venice picked up two runs in the fifth, three runs in the sixth and another pair in the seventh.

Metro-East grabbed four runs in the fourth, one in the sixth and matched Venice's pair in the seventh.

"Our big third inning is what really made the difference," said Venice's coach Ken Perkins. After that we just kept pecking away at them for the win."

The win adjusts Venice's record to 1-3. Tuesday's winning pitcher for the Red Devils was Lola Virginia. Metro-East's Holbert was tagged for the loss.

Venice out hit the Knights 28 to 18. The errors were too numerous to count.

Outstanding performances for Venice finished the afternoon with the best record going three for three. Miss Marchbanks scored all three trips to the plate.

After four games the Red Devils as a

Venice Red Devils

Venice's Rosie Harmon went four for five on the afternoon as she rapped in one homer and three singles. Miss Harmon also scored at all five trips to the plate.

Lynnette Crawford went .333 for the day as she went four for six. She tagged Metro-East for a triple.

Freshman Angie Marchbanks of Venice finished the afternoon with the best record going three for three. Miss Marchbanks scored all three trips to the plate.

After four games the Red Devils as a team have batted .529 percentile, they've hit 12 doubles, 10 triples and batted six round trippers.

Jackie Chatman leads the club with a .786 batting average. Rosie Harmon is second with a .667 average, followed by Lisa Harmon at .600, Darline Wigfall with .583, Cassandra White at a .583, Letitia Miller at .500, Lynnette Crawford with .444 and Janice Bradley at .333.

Tomorrow Venice travels to Worden to take on conference rival Worden. Play begins at 4 p.m.

Warriors take pair from Kahoks

By AL BARNES
Of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Coach John Modica's Granite City South High's baseball team continued its powerful hitting Tuesday afternoon, defeating a very good Collinsville team twice, taking the opener, 6-5, and the nightcap . . . under the lights . . . 9-8.

Which was, according to Colin Feeney and his brother, Brent, scores greatly similar to indoor soccer. The Feeney brothers are the official announcers and scorers at all South games.

Seriously, the closeness of two games only illustrates once again just how tough the competition in all sports and between these schools in every sports be it soccer, basketball, baseball, et al.

Coach Russ Keene's Kahoks carried both games to the Happy Warriors before losing. In each case, South had to stand off charges in the late frames.

In the opener, South's southpaw, Steve Manka, was credited with the victory although he was "saved" by junior right-hander, Dominic Griffin, who faced the last seven men.

The hitting star for the Warriors was Dave Modrusic who went three-for-three and scored three runs.

Pacing Collinsville at the plate was Steve Bleumner, senior third baseman who was two-for-two, plus two walks and who has a throwing arm like a Saturday Night Special.

Grabbing slugging honors for the opener was Collinsville's Brad Mayes with a leadoff four-bagger in the fourth and Steve Giacoleto, a two-run shot in the top of the sixth which made it close.

South put the first game away, really, in the fifth when they tallied four runs to make the score 6-2. A big blow for Granite City in that inning was by Mill Roe, a transfer student from Florida, who delivered an important bases loaded single scoring two. More important for the Warriors' eventual success were the three Kahok misuses that frame.

Starring afield in both games for Granite City was their centerfielder, senior Scott Greathouse, who was hitless in the first game but was credited with two sacrifices which led to a run and another which was cancelled because the runner failed to tag third. On the second frame it was his sensational catch (in the centerfield trench) of a drive by the Kahoks' Glen Hefflin long smash which prevented a big Collinsville inning. Two were on base at the time. His single in the fourth was the second game ignited a three-run fourth frame which put the game out of reach for Collinsville and gave Granite City a 9-5 cushion.

The loser for Collinsville on the mound in the opener was Tom Lewis who was relieved in the sixth by Jeff Lamoreaux.

On the mound for Granite City in the second game was Tom Newton, who was replaced by the Warriors' Bruce Sutter, Dominic Griffin, in the fourth, and was credited with the victory. He was credited with the "save" in the opener.

However, Griffin needed rescuing, too, as Joe Schette came in in the seventh with no outs after Collinsville's Brian Wandling drove in a run for the Kahoks and cutting the score to 9-8 in favor of the eventual winners. In addition, Schette was three-for-three and drove in six runs, featuring a two-run triple in the fourth.

Trojans win second Madison County title

Trojanettes finish fourth in girls' green division

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER

Sports Editor

HIGHLAND—Victories in all of the relays lifted the Madison Trojan tracksters to a first place finish in the Madison County Green Division track meet Tuesday.

It's the second time Madison has won the annual meet. The last time was in 1979. The Trojans came close to winning the meet last year, but a disqualification in the final event put that victory out of reach by two points.

Madison got the green light early as they won the first event, the 3200 meter relay, in 8:45.7. Triad finished a close second with a time of 8:49.3.

The Trojanettes finished fourth in girls' competition, behind Highland, Triad and Wood River.

The Madison girls set a new record in the 600 meter medley with a time of 1:58.3. The girls, Rose Clay, Jovanna Dillon, Jerran Ware and Traci Parker, beat the old record by a second and three-tenths.

Regina Banks won the girls' 100 meter low hurdles in 16 seconds flat. She also managed a first place finish in the 200 meter low hurdles with a time of 31.4, shattering the old record by a full second.

Banks, Dillon, Gina Griggs and Ware also set a new record in the 800 meter relay by one-tenth of a second, coming in at 1:52.1.

For the most part the Lady Bulldogs dominated the girls' event. Madison would get one point and Highland would get one or two.

The final event won by Madison was the 1800 meter relay. Griggs, Mia Jenkins, Banks and Parker edged Highland by nearly two seconds with a time of 4:18.1.

Madison's 400 meter relay team consisting of speedsters Willie Ball, George Leonard, Tim Prothro and Shawn Brown answered the next challenge as they set a new county record of 45.2. They broke the old record of 45.7 also set by Madison.

Highland's Darrel Frecker won the next event, the 3200 meter run, with a time of 10:29.2. The event was the first of three distance events won by the Highland senior. His other victories came in the 800 meter run and the 1600 meter run.

Running the final leg of the 1600 meter relay for Highland, Frecker lifted the Bulldogs from an apparent third place finish to a second place finish, coming in only three seconds behind Madison's record-setting time of 3:37.2.

Frecker was directly responsible for 22 of Highland's 36 points.

Madison's time of 3:37.2 in the 1600 meter relay was the second new county record set by the Trojans. The old record of 3:39.3 was held by Bethalto.

Madison's Tim Prothro won the fourth event, the 110 meter high hurdles, with a time of 16.3. Prothro's time was just six-tenths of a second off the record.

Madison managed a double event winner in both the high jump and the triple jump.

The Trojans' John Lewis won the high jump with a lowly jump of 5-foot-8. The 5-foot-8 tall high jumper currently holds Madison's school record of 6-foot-2½.

Madison's Kelly Scrum added an additional three points to the Trojan cause as he finished third in the high jump with a leap of five feet six inches.

In the triple jump Madison's Lewis and Elmer Collins' efforts provided the "one-two punch" for the Trojans as they finished first and second respectively. Lewis jumped for 39-foot-7, while Collins also reached the 39 foot mark, jumping 38-foot-1½.

In their final event, the long jump, the two jumpers managed second and third place finishes. Lewis jumped 19-foot-2 for second place, while Collins jumped 18-foot-8½, good enough for a third place finish.

In the 800 meter relay Madison's Scrum, Willie Ball, Prothro and Brown teamed for Madison's third relay victory. The Trojan's edged out Roxana by two and a half seconds with a 1:36 finish.

Madison's coach Charles Steptoe was expecting at least a first place finish in the 400 meter dash, but a disqualification just prior to the race dashed those hopes.

"I was really hoping for at least a first and a third, but it wasn't to be," Steptoe said.

Trojan Charles Fuller's jump before the gun led only Lyn Fifer as the only Trojan competing.

Fifer finished the 400 in second place with a time of 53.9 behind Roxana. Leonard and Prothro crossed the finish line with times of 42.2 and 42.6 respectively. Roxana won the event with a time of 41.6.

Just days prior to the meet Prothro ran the same event in 40.2 and Leonard in 41.4.

In what was probably the closest race of the afternoon, Madison's Shawn Brown managed a second place finish with a time of 24.6. Wood River won the event with a time of 24.0. All five competitors crossed the finish within the same second.

Roxana was third also with a time of 24.8. Madison's A.C. Ware was fourth with a time of 24.7 and Wood River crossed the line one-tenth of a second later at 24.8.

"It's hard to compete with teams like Edwardsville and Alton because they have one super athlete who can participate in four events and score a lot of points," South coach Mel Bunting said.

"We just don't have the sprinters to compete with Edwardsville and Alton, and North was pretty much in the same situation," Bunting said.

This was the first time since 1973 that Alton has not won the boys' championship. The last team besides Alton to win a title was Granite City South.

EDWARDSVILLE—This year, Edwardsville High School has the magic touch in both boys and girls track in Madison County.

Both the Edwardsville boys and girls teams won their respective championships in the Madison County (Red Division) Track Meet Tuesday at SIUE-Edwardsville.

In the boys' portion of the meet, the Tigers had 76 points, Alton scored 60 points, Granite City North was third with 56 points, Granite City South was fourth with 50 points, and Collinsville had 42 points.

"It's hard to compete with teams like Edwardsville and Alton because they have one super athlete who can participate in four events and score a lot of points," South coach Mel Bunting said.

"We just don't have the sprinters to compete with Edwardsville and Alton, and North was pretty much in the same situation," Bunting said.

This was the first time since 1973 that Alton has not won the boys' championship. The last team besides Alton to win a title was Granite City South.

Kevin Mosby, Edwardsville's

premier jumper, won both the long jump and triple jump and ran in two of Edwardsville's relay teams to pace the Tigers.

David Renning of Granite City North and Dave McLean of Granite City South were also double winners. Renning threw the shot put 49-9¼ inches and the discus 141-8¼ to win both of those events, while McLean ran the 3200 meters in 9:53.13 and the 1600 meters in 4:31.16 for his two victories.

McLean edged Collinsville's Davidson by .05 second in the 1600 meters, a major accomplishment

'Summer-style' day camps at SIUE

EDWARDSVILLE—Although classes on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville may end in early June, athletics "summer-style" will just be getting under way.

In an announcement made this week by Athletic Director Ed Bigham, SIUE will serve as a host to several of the best athletic summer day camps in the region, beginning June 7 with the baseball and tennis camps and continuing through June 14 with the soccer camp and the second baseball camp.

Day camps get under way June 7 with the first of two five-day sessions of baseball and a five-day tennis camp.

Cougar Head Baseball Coach Gary Collins will instruct youngsters from the ages of 10 through their junior year of high school the fundamentals and game strategies of baseball, while Kent DeHars, who has led the Cougars to four consecutive NCAA Division II National Championships, will give campers instructions in tennis.

Bob Guelker, one of the most respected soccer coaches in the United States, will host his soccer camp beginning June 14 on Cougar fielding to have a staff of the best soccer coaches and players in the Midwest on hand for both the day camp and his resident camp, which is scheduled to get under way June 20. A second session of the soccer resident camp is also scheduled to kick off July 25.

Bigham also announced the addition of five more summer resident camps: baseball (June 27-July 3), boys basketball (June 20-26 and July 11-17), girls' basketball (June 27-July 3) and tennis (July 11-16).

For additional information concerning day or resident camps, please contact the SIUE athletic department at 618-692-2871 or the office of Conferences and Institutes at 618-692-2650.

Sports

It takes a special kind of person to be a coach. Most coaches are giving, unselfish people who once participated in the sport they've now chosen to coach. Some began coaching out of necessity — no one else seemed to have the time. Still others began coaching while their children were participants.

There are seemingly as many reasons for coaching as there are men and women who do so. More often than not, coaching is a thankless job — a job of late nights and cold showers. Those who remain coaches for any length of time can vouch for that.

Since coming to the Press-Record, I've had the opportunity to meet some excellent coaches. The Quad-Cities is fortunate in the quality coaches that it does.

For instance, Lloyd Lerch is a guy who works for the Press-Record in composition. Lerch coaches two soccer teams, 16 and under and 8-year-olds. He doesn't get paid for his time, he does it for the enjoyment.

Lerch is an early riser. He usually makes it in to work at 4 or 5 a.m. on press day to make sure the day's editions get off without a hitch. He works until 3 p.m. and then heads for home.

You'd think that a guy who gets up at 3 or 4 a.m. for work would get some sleep after he puts in his eight or nine.

Not this guy. The next day, I'll see Lerch and without a stutter I'll get the scoop about last night's soccer game.

"Al," he says, "you should have seen my kids play last night. Boony, they were tough. They played like champs."

What a fanatic. That's not all. He plans to coach a Khoury League baseball team this summer.

Some other coaches who stand out in my mind are the three area track coaches — North's Harry Lang, South's Mel Bunting and Madison's Charlie Steptoe.

Harry Lang, now there's a guy who must've been born with track shoes on his feet.

Last week I covered the conference track relays at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. I photographed the meet until darkness made shooting impossible. I then made my way up to the press box to get the results.

After a short time in the box, I noticed this short guy in a black T-shirt and black coach's shorts running from one side of the track to the other shouting at Steeler tracksters.

As it turns out, this guy was North's coach, Harry Lang. He was shouting between sides of the track shouting encouraging words at his runners.

He'd leave the near side headed for the opposite side just as the gun sounded the beginning of the race. He'd arrive at the other side just about the time his tracksters would get there. They'd speed by, but not before Lang got a few good words in. Then he'd run back over to the starting line in time for the finish.

"That's Harry," an official said. "Va, Harry never quits," said another.

In these days of mediocre coaches, Lang is more than just the North's track coach. He's an enthusiastic coach.

The funny thing is, he does it all unselfishly. I don't think he realizes he's doing all that running. His enthusiastic approach to coaching reflects in the personal consistency and quality of his tracksters. He's the Steeler's biggest track fan.

The hitting star for Collinsville in the second game was: Steve Blumner with three-for-four and Wandling who was three-for-four including a double in the fifth.

Sports on the Run

By Al Gerstenecker

For example, getting results from Lang after a meet is easy. He's a talker. A simple "what about the meet coach," is usually all that has to be asked of Lang.

He unfolds the whole meet — names, times and places. He willingly tells all.

In contrast to Lang is South's coach Bunting. Bunting, it seems, employs a totally different technique.

While Lang makes his rounds during a meet, Bunting stands around the finish line reserved, composed and proper with his clipboard in hand.

For Bunting, when the gun sounds, the coaching part of the meet is over. The boys are on their own. This is not to say he doesn't encourage his runners during the meet, because he does.

Bunting is every trackster's coach. He respects all tracksters, from his best runner to the kid who never places.

He summed it up beautifully last week when he said, "I don't care if a kid finishes dead last in his event, if he tries in a personal best time or distance, he's a winner."

That typifies Bunting. If that philosophy doesn't make an athlete want to push himself I don't know what will.

This is Bunting's last year as South's track coach. He's giving up coaching track so he can spend some time with his parents who are now retired.

South will be losing an excellent coach in Bunting. Madison's Charlie Steptoe is one heck of a coach.

Charlie's a fundamentalist. Last Friday afternoon Charlie's fastest sprinter missed detention, so he was re-scheduled for Monday.

Well, Monday came along, and the kid skipped out again. So along comes Tuesday, the day of the Madison County track meet.

Administrators nix the kid. They offered to allow him to attend the meet Tuesday, if he promised not to miss detention Wednesday.

Charlie wouldn't have any part of it, even if it meant his best sprinter wouldn't attend the county meet.

Call it old-fashioned discipline, call it whatever. Charlie gambled on losing the meet without his star sprinter, but he wasn't going to compromise.

Guess what? The gamble paid off. The star sprinter attended detention, Madison won the county meet the second time over, and the guy they put in to replace the star, well, he ran his best race yet. He ran so well he's now in the record books.

It's rare that good guys finish first, but Charlie has.

Travelers Abroad study Poland

The April meeting of the Travelers Abroad club was called to order by the president, Miss Betty Townsend. Thirty-two persons were present, including four guests—Mrs. Stephi Kowalski, Mrs. Angela Grupa, Mrs. Grupa, and Mrs. Majkut.

After discussing various dining places, the group voted to have its Christmas party at the Collinsville Holiday Inn during the first week of December.

Dr. Alice Purdes presented Mrs. Majkut and Mrs. Grupa who showed and narrated movies of their trip to Poland a few years ago. This was a very personal viewing as it showed many family members as they became acquainted with the visitors from Madison.

Mrs. Grupa taught dancing for a number of years through the Polish Roman Catholic Union. At the beginning of the film, her dancers were seen performing in a big show in Chicago. She even showed her students doing a Lithuanian dance to Polish music that was accepted by the show's director.

After this dance show, Mrs. Grupa, her daughter, and Mrs. Majkut, along with two other relatives, joined the Polish dance tour to Europe. They spent a month there—two weeks on the tour, a one-week side trip to Italy, and another week on their own, utilizing a taxi driver to locate and get acquainted with their close relatives still living in Poland.

Flying into Warsaw from Chicago took about 7 1/2 hours. Their accommodations in Warsaw were at the Grand Hotel, which the speakers said was not very clean. After touring Warsaw and seeing many beautiful churches, as well as the "Old Town," which has been rebuilt exactly as it was before its 90 percent destruction in World War II, the group went north to Turin.

Turin is the birthplace of the great astronomer Copernicus and the town was celebrating the 500th year anniversary of his birth. Gdansk, presently known as the home of the Solidarity Union, was shown next. It is a historic Polish port on the Baltic Sea.

Among the members of this tour were several nuns and priests and their presence provided the other tour members with some special privileges. When the group went south to Czestochowa, they were especially privileged to be extremely close to the painting of Our Lady of Czestochowa, located in the "Black Madonna" due to the change in coloration of the face and hands of the subject. This particular painting is supposed to have been done by St. Luke and was handed down by several rulers for several centuries and then remarkable things began to happen to those persons near the painting.

Our Lady of Czestochowa is known as the queen of Poland.

Most visitors at the monastery stand behind a grating or screen, but the Madison visitors and the other tour members were in the picture in the painting. The picture is shown during masses and at noon it is covered by a curtain. Many persons leave expensive necklaces and rings for the "Lady" in hope of winning official favors.

In one of the towns the group visited, they were privileged to see a panoramic history of the Polish people, starting with Christ and going through the end of World War II. The figures were life-sized and presented a very realistic story.

During the time the visitors were away, they had many bouts of illness from the food and water. Not being accustomed to the heavy food, and having the same type of meat for 26 to 30 days, they got to the point where they were hungry much of the time.

Mrs. Grupa said they began to live on soft drinks, even for breakfast. These were warm drinks, not chilled as we enjoy them.

The lack of privacy and satisfactory bathroom facilities also created problems for the ailing travelers.

Moving farther south, the tour went to Krakow, where they enjoyed shopping in the arcaded Cloth Hall in the Market Square. A short distance from here is Wieliczka, which is famous as the oldest salt mines in the world. There are 12 levels and visitors seldom get below the third level. Shoring is done with huge wooden beams and timbers and, as one passes along, he sees huge, beautiful chandeliers made from the different types of salt found in the mines.

A banquet hall and a chapel have been constructed in the salt mines with all decorations and objects being made from the salt. Even the different colors needed are available in different types of salt. As one proceeds through the area open to the public, he will see many statues and scenes carved from the salt.

Birkenau and Auschwitz concentration camps are about an hour's drive from Krakow. Birkenau, which was the larger, had wooden buildings while Auschwitz had brick buildings, which were originally constructed for Austrian soldiers. The barbed wire and sentry stations are still in place, but at Auschwitz several of the buildings have been turned into museums. Some of the buildings contain memorials to those killed and fresh flowers are always strewn in front of them.

The last museum that visitors see contains large rooms with glassed windows behind which are the possessions of the victims. There were windows full of shoes, brushes, eyeglasses, wooden limbs, suitcases with family names stenciled on them, human hair and even babies' clothes.

Before the formal tour disbanded, the group visited Chopin's birthplace at Zelazowa Wola, which is now run by the state as a memorial to the musician.

Before the formal tour disbanded, the group visited Chopin's birthplace at Zelazowa Wola, which is now run by the state as a memorial to the musician.

Getting acquainted with unknown relatives is easier when you can speak their language, the audience was reminded. Mrs. Majkut is fluent in Polish, so she was the interpreter. Otherwise, gestures and smiles had to be used.

Mrs. Grupa said they hired a taxi and the driver stayed with them for three or four days and became a "member" of the family. None of their relatives had cars, so they used horses and buggies and their feet—especially their feet.

Visiting the rural areas, they found that the Sunday church service was very important. A two-hour mass was followed by a bazaar. Many city residents would return to the rural area to go to church. If they had a job, they had a Communist card, which did not allow religious activities. By returning to the rural church, they could still uphold their beliefs.

The barns were made of brick and the houses of wood, which showed where the church, they could still uphold their beliefs.

One movie scene showed everyone sitting around a TV set, of which the relatives were very proud. Nothing was on the TV, but one time they got a test pattern.

Despite the bouts of illness, the families enjoyed getting acquainted. Mrs. Grupa said, in closing, that she was so happy and thankful that her parents had come to America and that she was raised as a Polish-American.

Bay View meets in Glen Carbon

Mrs. Harold Jensen entertained members of the Bay View Ladies Club last week in her home in the Eden Village Retirement Center in Glen Carbon.

Mrs. Lawrence McCauley presided at the business meeting. In the absence of Mrs. Arthur Buehler, club president.

Officers and committee reports were submitted for approval and the membership committee noted they are contacting prospective members to increase the club roster.

An election of officers was held with Miss Hazel Towery named president, Frances Lynch, vice-president, Mrs. McCauley, secretary and Mrs. William Miller, treasurer.

Mrs. Alred Kusniek introduced Mrs. Walter Klein who revived a book on Theodore Roosevelt, written in 1980 by Edward Morris.

Others attending were Mesdames Wayne Carlisle, Chris Louis, James Stuart, Dale Reag, Miss Lily Dod, and associate member, Mrs. Emil Mueller.

Chapter social to honor mothers

Ki Epsilon Chi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, finalized plans to host an ice cream social and Mother's Day observance, during a business session held in the home of Helen Hall.

A fund raising luncheon sale project was postponed until June 12 to be held at the residence of Carolyn Walsh.

Chapter members also attended the Founder's Day dinner meeting on Wednesday at Kay's in St. Louis.

Mrs. Ahlvers gives lesson

Mrs. Mary Ahlvers presented a devotional lesson using scripture verses taken from Matthew 5:1-16, at a meeting of the Maude M. Tolson Philatelic Sunday School Class held in the parlor of Nidringhaus United Methodist Church.

She also spoke on an article from The Baracca Philathea News, a national publication.

Mrs. Ahlvers offered prayer prior to refreshments served by hostesses Mrs. Paula Smith and Miss Ella Ray Smith.

Reports were given by Miss Smith, secretary and Mabel Stewart, treasurer. As a memorial to Mrs. Ida Cox, a member of the class who died April 14, the group agreed to send a contribution in her name to the church.

During the business session it was announced that a local church has eight buses to transport children to the church for breakfast before services.

A discussion was also held on attending a dinner at a restaurant to be selected for the final meeting of the class year.

Others present were Mary Hiller, Olga Pierch, Katherine Van der Order and Geneva Wallis.

Ainad Parade route set

Opinion An age old problem

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Editor

Being accused of misquoting sources is nothing new for newspapers. It probably has been going on since written communications started.

However, when someone who was not even at a meeting accuses a newspaper of misquoting a statement made at that meeting, we can only believe that communications, written or oral, have broken down entirely.

"It is defective reporting," was how Alderman Castner Skubish described the Press-Record's reporting Monday of a joint meeting of the Granite City Board of Realtors and the Granite City Board of Realtors.

We find that odd since Skubish was not at the meeting and did not hear the quoted statements made.

Skubish's statements were made at Tuesday night's Granite City Council meeting as he accused the Press-Record of attempting to "furnish the credibility" of city aldermen. We believe it is wrong for Alderman Skubish to utilize his office to attempt to discredit this newspaper when the information he has on the second hand.

It is more important to analyze the statements made by Fisk, who stated at the city council meeting that the reporter who was not at the meeting was so bad that he does not believe he attended the same meeting as the one reported.

Fisk's main contention was that he was misquoted on a statement "I could have slipped this ordinance through, but it would not have been one the city or the people could live with." Tuesday night, Fisk said that the reporting was "completely and totally false."

Ray Kaegel, former president of the Granite City Board of Realtors, was at the realtors meeting. He said of Fisk's presentation at that meeting, "I was at the meeting and he definitely said what you said in the paper that he said."

Bob Barton, current president of the Board of Realtors, agrees that Fisk said something about an ordinance or amendment which he could have "slipped through" using those words, but said he is not sure the quote "was printed in proper context."

The Press-Record account, by Reporter Donna Kimbro, indicated that Fisk stated he thought he could, at one time, have "slipped through" the council a tough housing ordinance with enforcement powers.

Various realtors at the meeting have various opinions on what Fisk meant, some feeling he meant only that he could have gotten the council to accept modifications to an existing tough housing ordinance which would have made it possible to enforce its stipulations.

However, the crux of the argument is whether or not Fisk indicated he could have "slipped" anything through the council. Those we questioned who were at the meeting said he did.

Kimbro's notes reflect, word for word, that he did and that Realtor Carl Hoffman responded, "I would hate to think you would 'slip' through any ordinance, and I also do not like to think that one man on the council would have that much power."

Barton says that some of the misunderstanding may have been caused by general confusion during the meeting. One group was telling jokes. A man kept coming in looking for someone to join a card game. Statements were made in less than perfect English. "An English teacher would have had a riot here," Barton says.

However, despite the confusion, we will stand behind Mrs. Kimbro's notes and her written statement. It is not the first time Alderman Fisk has publicly accused this paper and at least three of its reporters at various times of misquoting him.

Newspapers in other cities have resorted to tape recording heated meetings and playing back the quotes when accused of misquoting officials. We hope such measures are not necessary here.

The Press-Record has always had a good relationship with the Granite City Council. The vast majority of our coverage and quotes are not questioned by aldermen.

However, when something heated comes up, such as the "slipped through" statement, it is always the Press-Record's coverage at fault.

A just wonder if Alderman Fisk knew there was a reporter present at that realtor's meeting.

YMCA kicks off its youth sustaining drive

Remember when you were 12, out of money, with no place to go, with nothing but a "Y" was the only place where you could swim, play basketball or relax in Teen Town?

David L. Ferrite, executive director of the Tri-City Area YMCA.

Times haven't changed. Youth still need a place where they can go to, to relax, have fun, and enjoy the company of other youth, he noted.

The YMCA can and does provide a wholesome atmosphere where kids learn skills, develop physically and are taught values such as respect for rules, respect for others, teamwork, leadership and other sound citizenship qualities.

In order to make it possible for hundreds of boys and girls to enjoy YMCA youth memberships, attend day camp, learn to swim, play basketball, frolic at "Y" overnight, or participate in a variety of other programs and activities at the "Y," this year the YMCA's Youth Sustaining Drive must raise $12,000.

Last year, more than 2,000 children participated in "Y" programs. The annual sustaining drive will produce a vital 4.5 percent of the money needed to bring quality "Y" programs to the youth of the Quad-City area.

Youth programs at the "Y" include swimming lessons (ages 3 months and up), floor hockey, basketball, racquetball, indoor soccer, day camp, sleepovers, holiday fun days, judo, boxing, karate, gymnastics and the swim team.

During the course of the play, she is forced to confront her unresolved relationships with her father and with an old boyfriend.

The play "Porch" will be available at the ticket.

Cultural Arts winners named

Granite City Area Council PTA announces the names of elementary school students who excelled in the area and district "Reflections" National PTA Fine Arts project.

The theme this year is "What Makes Me Smile" and has been carried out throughout the entire year in all Cultural Arts projects with all Granite City schools participating in the program, according to Mrs. June Branding, chairman of the Fine Arts committee for the Area PTA Council.

Mrs. Branding also serves on the Madison County Arts Council Board of Directors, and is a former music teacher and soprano.

Reflections is one of the Cultural Arts activities of the National PTA, created in 1969, to give recognition to children and young people with talent in the arts, she explained.

The objectives of this particular program are to provide an opportunity for children and youth to use their creative talents by expressing themselves through their own original works of art and to emphasize the value of cultural arts in school. Also to recognize these as useful

Mrs. Branding said, "This project is intended to generate creative efforts in the fine arts, not to be merely an opportunity to submit already prepared efforts. It is important for students to expand their creative energy within specific parameters, as a challenge to their skills and originality."

South High earns accreditation

Principal James Dumont of Granite City High School South has announced that the school's accreditation has been extended through the 1981-82 school year following the review and approval of its annual report at the North Central Association's annual meeting. Accreditation is for one year at a time and must be renewed annually.

"Once every seven years, each NCA school must undergo a comprehensive self study, followed by an NCA evaluation team review," Principal Dumont explained. "This school was last evaluated in 1978. In the interim years, a school is accredited on the basis of its report on conditions existing in the school and on such supplementary information as the Commission on Schools requests."

"Our report for 1981-82 assures us of ongoing NCA membership and accreditation. This continued accreditation means that the conditions 'for effective education' exist in the school," he noted. The North Central Association is the largest of the country's regional accrediting agencies. It is a voluntary league of more than 6,000 schools and 900 colleges and universities in 19 states, plus the Department of Defense Dependent Schools throughout the world. A total of 619 schools are accredited in Illinois. The association works with individual schools to improve the quality of education through a continuous process of evaluation and accreditation, a spokesman for the group said.

Dr. John S. Kemp, NCA state director at the University of Illinois, congratulated South on its continued accreditation for 1981-82. He added, "The school has been a member of the North Central Association since 1907 and, in all these years, it has been fully accredited. This should be a matter of satisfaction to the students and the parents of the school, since accreditation gives assurance that the school meets those minimal, yet rigorous, preconditions for effective education established by the association. Through this voluntary membership in the NCA, the school and the people in the district have committed themselves to the pursuit of quality in education."

Quality education, an ideal in the past, is an imperative today, he said. North Central Association accreditation and evaluation offer both a framework and an effective tool to help schools clarify their goals, recognize their strengths and limitations and implement processes and programs to help meet the needs of today's students.

Accreditation by the North Central Association ensures that the school is meeting the minimal conditions for effectiveness, he noted. By setting standards for basic operations of the school and by requiring a comprehensive self-study once every seven years, the NCA stimulates the school towards continuous improvement. This is accountability in action, for a school evaluation involves students, faculty, and parents. The external team is composed of teachers, administrators, university personnel and Illinois State Board of Education representatives. The year the school spends on an evaluation enables every teacher to participate in the development of a comprehensive plan for school improvement.

Decentralization is the hallmark of American education. It has resulted in vigorous schools and great flexibility, Dr. Kemp explained. Still, there is a need for some thread of consistency and a common commitment to quality to integrate this rich educational diversity in our nation. By providing optional, voluntary, self-polluted standards, regional accreditation achieves a large degree of quality control yet does not forfeit that unique and invaluable feature—local governance of the schools, he added.

NCA accreditation helps build public confidence by providing evidence to the public that the school is meeting expectations and fulfilling not only local standards but also those more widely accepted throughout the state and the nation. NCA standards are established by the profession itself.

"Contemporary concepts of education are opening exciting possibilities to society. Yet even as the creative innovative processes reveal new horizons for both teachers and students, the need for perspective becomes essential. NCA membership offers both a base for the development of new programs and also a control to keep them on the most productive educational course," Dr. Kemp concluded.

Motorcyclist is linked to GC robbery

An armed robbery warrant was served at 6:35 p.m. Monday on Cher L. Byrd, 26, of 2581 Revere's Route.

Byrd initially was taken to county jail after a crash at 8:45 p.m. Monday in which the front of his eastbound motorcycle hit the rear of an eastbound auto.

A motorist, Laura Kelly, 3132 Ash Ave., had halted to turn left into a driveway at 2233 Terminal Ave. Byrd was arrested for having no valid operator's license and no valid vehicle registration.

He was held for Calhoun County authorities, who say his bond will be $1,500 on traffic allegations pending there.

Granite City police then booked him for armed robbery, related to a holdup Feb. 9 at the E & L Products connection, 2503 Washington Ave. Byrd's bond on that charge is $50,000.

Three persons had entered the E & L store, two displaying revolvers and the third wielding a knife. Money was taken from a cash register and from the wallet of Earl Sykes, owner.

DUI ALLEGED

Gary Foutch, 32, of Granite City, was charged late last week with driving while intoxicated, according to Collinsville police. Officers followed Foutch's car northbound on Vandavia at about midnight, clocked it going 45 mph in a 30 mph zone, and saw it veer toward the right a number of times, it was alleged.

SIUE blood drive set

The St. Louis Chapter of the American Red Cross is holding a blood drive at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Monday and Tuesday, May 3 and 4. Blood may be donated from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. each day in the St. Clair Room of the University Center. The drive is co-sponsored by Gamma Sigma Sigma sorority and the Student Activities Office.

Bob Bolesta, director of Student Activities, said a contest is being held to encourage people to donate blood. The organization or individual signing up the most people to give blood will win a pizza party at Pantera's, valued up to $100. According to Bolesta, all types of blood are needed. "I know that within the last year there has been a shortage. The Red Cross usually has an acute shortage in the summer," Bolesta said. "Every bit helps at this point."

Persons interested in donating blood may contact the Student Activities Office at 1-892-2666.

Venice High accredited

John C. Rush, principal of Venice High School has announced that the school's accreditation has been extended through the 1983-84 school year following review and approval of its annual report at the North Central Association's annual meeting. Accreditation is for one year at a time and must be renewed annually.

"Once every seven years, each NCA school must undergo a comprehensive self-study followed by an NCA evaluation team review," Rush noted.

"This school was last evaluated in 1980. In the interim years, a school is accredited on the basis of its report on conditions existing in the school and on supplementary information as the Commission on Schools requests."

"Our report for 1981-82 assures us of ongoing NCA membership and accreditation. This continued accreditation means that the conditions for effective education exist in the school."

The North Central Association is the largest of the nation's regional accrediting agencies. It is a voluntary league of over 3,000 schools and 900 colleges and universities in 19 states plus the Department of Defense dependent schools throughout the world; six schools are accredited in Illinois.

The association works with individual schools to improve the quality of education through a continuous process of evaluation and accreditation.

Dr. John S. Kemp, NCA state director at the University of Illinois, congratulated Venice High School on its accreditation for 1981-82.

He added, "The school has been a member of the association since 1919, and in all those years it has been fully accredited. This should be a matter of satisfaction to the students and parents, since accreditation gives assurance that the school meets those minimal yet rigorous preconditions for effective education established by the NCA."

"Through this voluntary membership, the school and the people have committed themselves to the pursuit of quality education."

"Quality education, an ideal in the past, is an imperative today."

"North Central Association accreditation and evaluation offer both a framework and an effective tool to help schools clarify their goals, recognize their strengths and limitations, and implement processes and programs to help meet the needs of today's students."

"By setting standards for basic operations of the school and by requiring a comprehensive self-study once every seven years, the NCA stimulates each school toward continuous improvement."

"This is accountability in action; a school evaluation involves students, faculty and parents. The external team is composed of teacher, administrator, university personnel and Illinois State Board of Education representatives."

"The year the school spends on an evaluation enables every teacher to participate in the development of a comprehensive plan for school improvement."

"Decentralization is the hallmark of American education. It has resulted in vigorous schools and great flexibility. Still, there is a need for some thread of consistency and a common commitment to quality in this rich educational diversity in our nation."

By providing optional, voluntary, self-policed standards, regional accreditation achieves a large degree of quality control and yet does not forfeit that unique and invaluable feature — local governance of the schools.

"Accreditation helps build public confidence by providing evidence to the public that the school is meeting expectations and fulfilling not only local standards but also those more widely accepted throughout the state and nation. NCA standards are established by the profession itself."

"Contemporary concepts of education are opening exciting possibilities to the society. Yet, even as the creative innovative processes reveal new horizons for both teachers and students, the need for perspective becomes essential."

"The NCA seeks to offer both a base for the development of new programs and a control to keep them on the most productive educational course."

Award to Dr. Sekora

Dr. John Sekora, son of Mrs. Stella Sekora, 805 Iowa St., Madison, has been elected a Fellow of the National Humanities Center for 1982-83. The recipients of the prestigious award were announced by Edward H. Levi, chairman of the center.

Dr. Sekora is chairman of the department of English and journalism at Western Illinois University, Macomb, and author of two books and 18 articles. The center, located in the Research Triangle Park in North Carolina, is the residential advanced study center of the National Humanities Foundation.

Dr. Sekora will be doing research on aspects of the narrative. He holds degrees from Bradley and Princeton and has held Danforth, Fulbright, Newberry and NEH fellowships.

Business Women honor media, present awards, scholarships

Presentation of scholarship grants and awards highlighted the Granite City Business and Professional Women's annual "Public Relations and Awards Night" banquet last week at Charlie's Restaurant.

Guest speakers, Mel Lytle, vice president of marketing and public relations for Chicago Title Insurance Co., and John Kettelkamp, an executive with the same firm, were introduced by Shirley Rapoff, program chairman.

Appreciation awards were presented by Mrs. Rapoff to media representatives—Donna Kimbro and Valerie Evenden of the Granite City Press-Record, and Shirley Adams and Bob Baker from Radio Station WGN.

Commenting there is no magic in the term—public relations—that "there is public relations in all of us," Lytle said everyone uses some form of "PR" in their everyday encounters with friends, prospective clients and co-workers.

He traced the history of public relations in its broadest forms from civilization's early cave-man days through the Biblical era and its disciples to the heralds of medieval times.

"We are all capable of public relations and by using your good judgment and sincerity you can sell yourself and your ideas. Insincerity, however, will be detected almost instantly," Lytle cautioned.

Frequently, the first person encountered by a prospective client is the telephone operator and this initial exposure is all important in future dealings with a firm. He noted Chicago Title has undertaken special training for its telephone operators with precisely this in mind.

In the awards ceremony, the Rev. Charlotte Zachary, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church of Madison and a BPW member, received the Verna Lengyel Scholarship for the second year. The minister is carrying an 'A' average in a pastoral care course at Eden Theological Seminary, where most of her classmates are in their early 20's, she reported.

Connie Siebert, a student at St. Louis University School of Nursing, was the recipient of the 1982 club scholarship.

Also honored were Rose Stevenson, Regina Jones and Ollie Derr, BPW president, who recruited new members in 1981 and received awards from Pearl Kennerly, membership chairman, and Barbara Young, Individual Development winner, who was presented a certificate by Celestia Puryear.

Mrs. Derr presided at the dinner meeting.

Expand state license plate renewal

Illinois Secretary of State Jim Edgar announced a two-part program Monday aimed at "improving" his office's service to the public by making it easier for automobile owners to purchase vehicle renewal stickers.

Under Edgar's program: —Starting May 1, financial institutions (including banks, savings and loans and currency exchanges) will be able to sell stickers for 30 days after a sticker's end-of-month expiration date. Financial institutions currently sell stickers only five days after the expiration date.

—Starting Aug. 3, six Secretary of State drivers' facilities located throughout Illinois will begin selling automobile registration stickers on an experimental basis to determine the practicality and affordability of expanding sticker sales to all or some of the office's 103 full-time drivers' facilities.

"The Madison County facility is in Bethalto. By increasing the financial institution sticker sales period from five to 30 days, Edgar said the state will be able to deposit fees received from late registrants sooner, saving an estimated 25 to 50 percent of the approximate $200,000 in interest income lost each year as a result of vehicle owners who register late."

There were approximately 925,000 late registrants in 1981, Edgar said about 40 percent of all late registrants purchase their stickers within five days of the deadline and almost 72 percent renew their registration by the 30th day after the deadline.

"I want to make it clear that we are not extending legal deadlines to purchase stickers and we are not attempting to make it easier for car owners to procrastinate in the purchase of new stickers. What we are doing is making the stickers available immediately locally for three more weeks for those who register late, rather than forcing them to mail their applications to Springfield for processing, which takes more time and costs the state more money," Edgar said.

The sticker sale feasibility test will be conducted at the Elgin, Chicago Heights, Galesburg, Mattoon, Bethalto and Carbondale facilities. They were chosen, Edgar said, because they represent a cross-section of drivers' facilities in terms of volume of business, staff size, geographic location, and size of facility. No additional personnel will be added to conduct the test.

"One question I am frequently asked is, why can't the secretary of state's office sell stickers at its own facilities statewide. This study will give us the facts and experience we need to answer that question. The two most important factors we will be studying are what impact adding sticker sales will have on the other services we offer the public in facilities and what additional costs will be incurred."

"We need to know if adding sticker sales will significantly delay persons who are being issued new drivers' licenses or renewing their licenses, or if we need more personnel to handle additional volume."

"Another important consideration is the impact it will have on financial institutions. This test is not intended to diminish or replace the importance of financial institutions, it is to improve service to the public," Edgar said. Financial institutions accounted for nearly $60 million—or 35 percent—of all passenger car registration renewals in 1981, Edgar said. Currently, stickers are sold by mail or at Secretary of State facilities in 1,266 financial institutions, including 577 banks, 118 savings and loans, 400 Chicago-area currency exchanges and one credit union.

"This is the first time any secretary of state has decided to renew automobile registrations at a secretary of state facility beyond those in Springfield and Chicago," Edgar said. License plate renewals were started in banks in 1966, rather than in secretary of state facilities, because it saved the state money, Edgar said. The banks absorbed personnel and mail costs which would have been borne by the state if secretary of state facilities were used instead.

Since that time, the bank sales program has been expanded to include a variety of financial institutions, including more banks, savings and loans, currency exchanges and the credit union at Scott Air Force Base.

The show starts with the Monday night reception and runs through May 14. Gallery hours are 10:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m., Mondays through Fridays. The gallery is located on the second floor of the University Center.

Davis said all of the faculty participates in the exhibit, himself included. He added that several works were prize winners in the recent Wabash Valley Show. Eight of the 13 entries from SIUE faculty members won awards in that show. There are 22 faculty members participating in
